A LUCKY ESCAPE.—A physician, the youngest of his age, and who for forty years has been alike distinguished for his philanthopy and unselfishness in his profession, and his genial social qualities, the other evening met with an accident and providential escape. He was dismounting from his horse at the house of a patient, slipped, and his foot caught in the stirrup. He fell, and this frightened the spirited animal, who dashed up street at a rapid pace, dragging the Doctor after him. By one of those lucky events, which occur once in a life-time, the shoe of the physician came off, and thus released him from his perilous position. He escaped with a bruised arm and side. Doctor, we congratulate you! Long may your life, and that of each of your patients, be spared.

MASONIC TEMPLE.—The Campbell Minstrels fairly took one of the largest audiences of the season by storm at their opening on Thursday night. Much as was expected from the troupe, the realization of all they promised was a fixed fact. As a whole, no band that ever visited the city will compare with them in completeness, and the entertainment furnished is one of the best we ever witnessed. The singing is au fait, and the instrumental portion of the performance admirable, while to such as go in for an extra dose of fun, the Ethiopean extravaganzas will be found irresistible in producing a certain side-shaking convulsion, which is said to be exceedingly favorable to digestion. To-night another splendid programme will be presented, which will doubtless draw another large assembly.

SPIRITUALISM.—Mr. J. B. Conklin, of New York, one of the most distinguished spiritual and test mediums in the country, will receive visitors for a few days at the United States Hotel, room 84. Mr. Conklin was one of the mediums through whom Judge Edmonds, Dr. Hare, Robert Dale Owen, Gov. Tallmadge, ex-President Fillmore, and many others, investigated the subject. The communications are chiefly given in writing by the hand of the medium while under spirit control. Mr. C. will receive invitations from families to give private interviews at their residence in the evening. Hours from 9 A.M. to 10 P.M. *

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.—A telegraphic dispatch from Alton, Illinois, last night, advised the arrest of John Williams, whom it described as an escaped felon. He was found at the National Hotel by Messrs. Kirkpatrick and Curry, of the Police, who escorted him to jail.

THE CASE OF THOMASSON FOR HOMICIDE.—The case of the Commonwealth vs. Thomasson, for the murder of his brother, was tried in Owen county a few days since, but the jury failed to agree. The killing was done in Scott county, some years since.

☞ Messrs. S. G. Henry & Co. will have a special sale of new and second hand furniture, mattresses, carpets, stoves, and other housekeeping articles, this morning (Saturday) at 10 o'clock, at auction rooms. They would call the attention of dealers and housekeepers to the sale, which will commence at 10 o'clock.

DASTARDLY ASSAULT.—Mrs. Rafferty, a widow, who resides on Seventh street, near York, was brutally assaulted by the brother of her deceased husband. She was badly used, and up to last evening, unfortunately, the man was not arrested.

☞ Gen. A. S. Johnston, of the Second Cavalry, has been assigned to the command of the Department of the Pacific, which embraces California and Oregon. Gen. Johnston has no superior in the service.

McCorrell wants 500 customers to-day.

☞ Mr. Pratt will close out the entire balance of his stock of books and stationery to-night, if possible, at White's auction rooms, Fourth street. Now look out for good bargains.

COLLISION.—Last evening the buggy of W. H. Haggin, Esq., came in collision with a coal cart, on Green street, near our office. Mr. H. was thrown from his buggy and slightly bruised, while the vehicle was wrecked.

CANVASS-BACK DUCKS AND DIAMOND TERRAPINS.—Rufer, of the St. Charles Restaurant, has received a consignment of canvass-back ducks and diamond-back terrapins, which he will serve up in his usual excellent style.

☞ Hon. H. C. Burnett, S. O. Peyton, and J. Y. Brown passed through the city on Thursday last, on their way to Washington.

Thanksgiving Day—General Observance—Services in Churches—Military Parade.

Thanksgiving Day was more generally observed in our city than we have ever known before. Nearly every business house was closed, while the employees in manufactories were permitted to celebrate it as a holiday. Services were held in most of the churches, and sermons preached pertinent to the occasion. "Thanksgiving dinners," however, were decidedly the feature of the day; and there were persons, too many, indeed, who made it a time for indulgence in wassail and song.

The atmosphere was soft and balmy as that of glorious and classic and genial Italy; so beautiful, it seemed as if it had been introduced to the American public purposely for Thanksgiving Day. The weather allowed a fine military display, in which our companies severally participated. The National Blues, under the gallant Captain Symms; the Louisville Life Guards, Captain Ayres; and the Citizens' Guards paraded through the principal streets in the morning. In the afternoon, the Jackson Guards, after marching through the thoroughfares, repaired to the suburbs, where they indulged in target shooting for a prize.

The new Zouave corps, which has been organized under the command of Major Woodruff, excited undisguised admiration by their excellent discipline. The Major and his command were hospitably entertained in the afternoon, by Mr. Wesley Adams, at his residence, on East street.

The streets were thronged all afternoon by thousands of our people, who sauntered along, apparently living alone for the present, and enjoying it, and letting the future take care of itself.

Several balls at night, and the usual amusements, completed our joyous Thanksgiving Day. May there be more such under a more perfect Union.

THEATER.—We were pleased to see so large and fashionable an audience last night at the benefit of Mr. and Mrs. Florence.—The audience, however, were somewhat disappointed at the non-appearance of Mrs. Florence, who was unable to play, owing to a sudden and severe indisposition. Mr. Florence's explanation, claiming the indulgence of the audience, was graciously received, and two other plays having been substituted for those announced in the bill, the performances were continued to the satisfaction of those assembled. Although we were disappointed, in common with all, in not seeing Mrs. Florence, we were pleased to have an opportunity of seeing Mr. Florence in three of his best pieces. He seemed to play with even more than his usual excellence, with the determination to be equal to the emergency which had so suddenly arisen.

To-night the bill is a very strong one, consisting of three favorite pieces, Shandy McGuire, the Young Actress, and the Omnibus.

THE FIRST COURT MARTIAL.—The first court martial, under the law organizing our Kentucky State Guard, will set here on Monday, in the Chancery Court room. As we stated last week, it has been called for the purpose of trying Maj. W. E. Woodruff, of the Marion Rifle Battalion, for alleged disobedience of orders. The peculiar circumstances of the case, and the probable effect it may have on the efficiency of our military law, will render the decision of importance as well as of interest. Maj. James A. Beattie will be the Judge Advocate.

☞ We call the special attention of housekeepers in want of fine furniture, furniture dealers, and those who contemplate going to housekeeping, to Mr. C. C. Spencer's sale of new and elegant parlor and chamber furniture, advertised for this (Saturday) morning, at his auction rooms. A larger or finer lot of first class furniture is not to be found at any one auction sale. His large store rooms are crowded to overflowing, and he tells us that he is compelled to close out the entire lot to make room for consignments soon to come in. A very superior 7 octave rosewood piano and a second hand upright piano is also included in this sale.

A TALE OF A TUB.—Last night an old man promenaded up and down Market street, individualing a damsel with that once popular refrain, "Buffalo Gals won't you come out to-night?" There being no Buffalo gals in the house; nor one that desired exposing herself to the inclemency of the weather, the minstrel's expectations were not realized. Determined, however, upon some exploit, he ended by stealing a wash-tub. It resulted in his being arrested by Policeman J. Gilpin Enlow.

FIRE IN MEADE COUNTY.—On Wednesday, 28th inst., about two o'clock, the residence of Rev. Mr. C. I. Coomes, adjoining his chapel, caught fire and was entirely consumed, together with the furniture and clothing of the occupants. The fire had gained too much headway to be stopped when discovered by Mr. Coomes, who is an invalid. The chapel was in imminent danger, but owing to the wet weather, was fortunately saved. The origin of the fire is not known.

GROCERY SALE.—Mr. C. C. Spencer advertises Messrs. Moore, Wheeler & Robinson's stock of groceries, wooden ware and liquors, to be sold by him on Thursday, the 6th of December, on four moths' credit. This firm is closing their grocery business, and intend to confine themselves strictly to their iron business in connection with a general commission business. The stock to be sold embraces as choice an assortment of groceries as can be found at any of our wholesale houses.

ESCAPE FROM THE STATE PRISON.—Two convicts, John Craig and Wm. Bargalt, celebrated their Thanksgiving day by escaping from the State Prison in Frankfort on Thursday. After the evening bell had been sounded, they climbed up a joist to the top of the wall of the new building, and letting themselves down by means of a rope, thus escaped. Bargalt was subsequently arrested. Craig, who was sentenced for burglary in this city, is yet at large.

☞ Messrs. S. G. Henry & Co. requests us to say that this morning (Saturday) at 12 o'clock, they will sell, for account of whom it may concern, saved from the wreck of the steamer Tempest, at warehouse on Wall street, immediately opposite Messrs. Shotwell & Son's, forty-one tierces of Duffield's hams, damaged by water; also, three boxes woolen socks, two boxes bedding and clothing, five boxes law and miscellaneous books, and other articles.

☞ Just received 100 pieces Fancy Silks which we will offer 25 per cent. less than importers' cost; also, 50 pieces French Beaver Cloth, for cloaking, which will be sold regardless of cost; also, Cloak Trimmings, &c. These goods being purchased since the great decline in Eastern markets, we will sell them at prices that will compare with the times.
n28 S. BARKER & CO.

AN EARTHQUAKE IN MEMPHIS.—Between eleven and twelve o'clock Saturday night many of the citizens of Memphis felt a distinct shock of an earthquake. It lasted about forty seconds, and made a general rattling of the windows.

☞ Mr. H. O. Remington died of lockjaw, at New Bedford, Mass., recently, caused by a splinter under his thumb nail, a fortnight ago, a portion of which was not extracted.

☞ A Baptist clergyman, "Rev." Henry Morrison, left Patterson, Cal., suddenly some three weeks ago, after seducing seven young women in the neighborhood.

RESIGNED.—A dispatch to a Western paper states that Mr. A. Armstrong, of Georgia, has resigned his Lieutenancy in the United States Navy.

☞ See Bland's advertisement. Money loaned on diamonds, &c. Office on Market street, between Third and Fourth.

The Right of Secession.

CRAB ORCHARD, KY., Nov. 28, 1860.

Editors Louisville Courier: Now that the smoke of battle has cleared away, and the passions of men are beginning to subside, I propose, through the columns of your staunch paper, briefly to discuss the right, and, incidentally, the policy of secession. While I may not hope to bring to bear upon this subject that ability and research which its importance and prominency before the public demands, still if I shall contribute in the least towards counteracting some of the prevailing errors respecting it, I shall be amply repaid for my labors.

Recent events have conspired to invest this with peculiar importance, and make it a practical question. Yet, instead of enlightening the public mind by calm discussion, and a truthful exhibition of the condition of the country, some of our public journalists have indulged only in idle threats and gasconade. Is it to be wondered, then, that multitudes of good men, whose whole stock of political information comes through such channels, should regard the right of secession, for any cause whatever, to be a doctrine without foundation—the offspring and invention of wicked men, and its exercise under any circumstances as impolitic and wrong? In the late contest we heard much about seceders and secession. The "great organ" of the "Union savers" (whose editor has boxed every point of the political compass—by turns a "blue lighted Federalist," an Abolitionist, a slavery protectionist, then a valiant knight in the ranks of the Squatter Prince) groaned under the weight of its anathemas against the friends of the Constitution and the equality of the States. The organ of the Squatters, (which once fattened on Federal patronage,) maddened by disappointment, stood with whip and halter in hand, ready to execute the imperial mandates of its once mighty, now fallen, leader. Itinerant orators, (who, perchance, had never devoted a day to the study of the nature and history of our government,) caught the spirit of these journals, and prated about secession, and talked learnedly of the powers and duties of the Federal Government. Many of our citizens will go down to the grave with the firm conviction that the right of secession has no resting place, save in the disordered brain of an ultraist or fire-eater.

Let it be our will, as it is our duty, to utter in the name of the people of Kentucky, a dignified protest against the present position of the North, and at the same time warn our fellow-citizens of the threatened danger to their constitutional rights, rather than sounding the gongs of alarm, and indulging in idle threats, exciting our own and irritating the people of other States. Too many, unfortunately, confound the policy with the right of secession, and because opposed to the former deny the latter. It is not contended, I believe, by any one that a State has the abstract right to secede. This right, even by its strongest advocates, has always been made to depend upon a contingency, and may be said to be a qualified right. The right of a State, upon an infraction or invasion of her constitutional rights to go out of the Union, has been claimed and conceded by the wisest and best men who ever occupied a place in the national councils.

Some who have resisted the idea of secession, have admitted the right of revolution. This seems to be a distinction without a difference, for the very act of secession itself, however brought about, contemplates a change, a fundamental change in the Government. If it is meant to associate with "revolution" the idea of violence, that a State can dissolve her connection with the Federal Government only when the latter is overcome and prostrated, by force of arms, in how much better condition are we than when colonies and vassals of Great Britain? We then had the right to resist tyrants and unconstitutional laws, and have we made no advance? If not, where and what were the fruits of the revolution? Such a presumption can proceed only upon the idea that this is a consolidated Government of general implied powers. It obliterates State lines and State sovereignty. It makes of the General Government a gigantic power, arbitrary and despotic; and with a standing army to enforce its decrees and execute the unconstitutional encroachments of a law-defying fanatical Congress, this is as dangerous to the liberties of the people as any Government of continental Europe. It destroys the beauty and symmetry of our system, and is totally repugnant to the history and genius of our institutions.

It will hardly be denied that this Government is one of a federal nature, composed of sovereign and independent States, leagued together for certain purposes, having for its basis the Constitution, which is the Union, before the ratification and adoption of which by the States there was no Union, as at present exists; nor that this is a government of delegated powers, deriving all its powers from the consent of the States. The General Government is the mere creature and agent of the States—the Constitution but a compact or agreement between sovereign States, entered into for certain purposes. The leading objects sought to be obtained by the framers of the Government were, as expressed in the preamble to the Constitution, "to form a more perfect Union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, &c." Mutual protection and advantages were the moving considerations. Protection against foreign encroachment and domestic violence, and legislation to "promote the general welfare," was desired; and to this end was the present Government instituted by the States. The Constitution, embracing within it such powers as would enable the General Government to attain the objects enumerated, was submitted to the States for ratification, and was ratified by the same in their sovereign capacities.

It was provided in the Constitution, article 7th, that "the ratification of the conventions of nine States shall be sufficient for the establishment of this Constitution between the States so ratifying the same." Eleven States having ratified the Constitution, their representatives assembled in Congress on Wednesday, the 4th day of March, 1789, and on that day the Constitution of the United States went into legal operation, and proceedings were commenced under it. The ratification of North Carolina was not received by Congress until January, 1790, and that of Rhode Island until June of the same year. In the meantime these States had been regarded, in many respects, as foreign, and were politically as foreign to the United States as the Canadas or the Republics of South America. It is plain from the above provision, and the bit of history connected with it, that it was not the policy of the fathers of the Republic to coerce States into the Union.

The Union was a voluntary association of sovereign and independent States for mutual protection and advantages; it was founded, too, upon the great and sacred principle of equality. As long as the government answers the purposes of its creation, it would be folly to desire its destruction; and so long as the Constitution remains inviolate, no State ought to secede, or resist an act of Congress under it. Such conduct would justly be open to censure, as a violation of good faith. In law, every contract is an entirety; and in the language of New England's great statesman, "A bargain broken on one side, is broken on all sides." Whenever the Constitution is willfully and persistently violated, the Government is legally at an end. Men may passively submit; the Government may have a de facto existence; but legally the Constitution is no longer binding, and the Union is at an end. It is said, with somewhat of an air of triumph, that there is no provision made in the Constitution for the withdrawal of a State from the Union. It was not the part of wisdom, nor was it the policy of the framers of the Government, to anticipate the disruption of the States, nor provide for the destruction of their own works. With the experience of the world before them, they had too much reason to fear the success of their own undertaking, without casting doubt upon it by such a provision. And how vain and futile would it have been to have made a provision for or against such contingency. If I mistake not, the Convention of the State of New York provided against any alteration of its Constitution for a hundred years. What became of this attempt to provide for all futurity? If it had any effect at all, it hastened the very end it would have defeated. When its inefficiency was discovered, it was changed with as little ceremony as if no such provision had been instituted. In turn, let us inquire of the advocate of coercion where exists the power, under the Constitution, to coerce a sovereign State? Nowhere can it be found. Is this, too, implied?

When the constitutional rights of a State are invaded, what is our remedy? We are told she has an appeal to the Supreme Court, and that it is the duty of the Executive to enforce the decision. Beautiful (!) in theory, how in practice? If the Court renders a just decision, and the Executive is mindful of his duty, can he enforce a law obnoxious to a whole State, in defiance of public opinion and State enactments? It would require a considerable army, in each of many of the free States, to execute effectually the Fugitive Slave Act. But suppose the Supreme Court is re-organized on an Abolition basis, which is part of the Republican programme, and the Executive is imbued with "higher-law" notions, what guarantee has Kentucky that her rights will be respected? Such a remedy under such a state of case (which is partly realized) is a mere cheat and delusion. Kentucky asserted, as early as 1798, the right of the separate States to judge of infractions of the Constitution, by the General Government, and its rightful remedy to be nullification. The right of a State to remain in the Union, and nullify an act of Congress, is more questionable than the right of secession itself. While she has claimed for herself the right to nullify an unauthorized act, in derogation of her rights, Kentucky ever has been ready faithfully to discharge every obligation imposed upon her by the Federal compact. What a contrast does she present to a majority of her Northern sisters, who by fraud, perjury and nullification, seek to rob her of her rights, and plunder her of her property! By reason of popular violence and nullification, and through the agency of the Underground Railroad, Kentucky annually loses (at a moderate estimate) $200,000 worth of slave property; whilst in Missouri there is scarcely any security for that species of property. It is boasted by the Abolitionists that not more than one of every two hundred slaves that cross the border are ever returned to their owners. The Constitution provides (Art. 4, Sec. 2) that "No person held to service or labor in one State, under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due." In the teeth of this provision of the Constitution, and in defiance of the Fugitive Slave Law enacted under it, a majority of the Northern States have attached a penalty (fine or imprisonment, or both) for assisting in the execution of the foregoing just enactment.

In Connecticut, if the master fails to secure his slave (and they always provide for that) he is fined $5,000 and imprisoned five years. This is the feast to which slaveholders are invited, in this "glorious Union." In view of this worse than "Punic faith," have not the injured States the right peaceably to dissolve their connection with States who refuse to recognize the obligations imposed upon them by the Federal Compact—who scoff at public justice and trample in the dust the Constitution—who plunder us of our property, then insult us in our misfortunes—who have proclaimed from their pulpits and public presses, from the rostrum and at the ballot-box, that there is a higher law than the Constitution, and that this is no Government for slaveholders. When we recollect the fiat has gone forth in regard to slavery, "thus far shalt thou go and no farther"—that the bare right of "transit" is denied them, and that slaveholders are set down in the catalogue of thieves and robbers and murderers, if a truth, this is no government for slaveholders! Is this an overwrought picture? Examine the "conservative" (!) Republican platform; read Helper and the ravings of Sumner, their campaign documents. Who is the Chief Magistrate elect? The author of the "irrepressible conflict dogma"—"A house divided against itself cannot stand. This Government cannot endure permanently half slave and free" [Ex. Lincoln's Chicago speech].—Seward only elaborated the doctrine in his great Rochester speech. Lincoln claims, and to him belongs, a patent for the discovery of the "irrepressible conflict."—For his inventive genius the great North made him President. How beclouded must have been the intellects of the "patriot fathers," that they could not discover this antagonism. In view of these facts, can we attach blame to those States who assert the right to secede, their constitutional rights being denied them? We certainly ought not, and those public journals, and some notable individuals in this State (whose especial business it is to take care of the Union), whose only delight consists in abusing the citizens of those States, whose only crime is zealous regard of their constitutional rights, who hate oppression, and refuse to lick the hand that smites them, are political cravens and only want the opportunity to be tories.

The great South Carolinian, perceiving the dark future with his prophetic eye, beheld the black squadrons of the North marshaling themselves for the overthrow of the South, and counseled his countrymen to prepare for the struggle. Had they heeded his counsel, the dangers and difficulties of to-day might have been averted—but lying knaves started the cry "disunionist," and fools caught it up, and thus was the most profound statesman and sagacious politician that ever sat in the American Senate, hunted down to the grave. He has been "gathered unto his fathers," but his predictions are to-day verified. Shall we shut our eyes and stop our ears to the truth, and still be unwise in spite of experience. Rather let us garner up our resources and be ready, for we may be on the eve of a mighty revolution. Let it be remembered that "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty," and "in union there is strength." The continued aggressions of the North, together with the election of Lincoln, have made secession a practical question. Kentucky will soon be called upon to decide whether she will take her stand along with her loyal sisters of the South, to whom she is bound by every tie of sympathy and interest, or whether she will be the tail end of an Abolition Confederacy, and march under the black piratical banner of her enemies to the subjugation of sovereign States. How much soever we would prolong the issue, we cannot. "The irrepressible conflict" is upon us. The whole South, justly indignant at the indorsement by the North of the treasonable doctrines of the Republican party, will soon be on the move. The fires of the revolution are burning brightly in South Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi, and Georgia. They will soon be kindled in the mountains of North Carolina and Tennessee; and "Old Virginia," occupying the position of an "armed mediator," when her last offering is rejected, will be borne away on the torrent, and the sword of Washington will be once more unsheathed to strike for the Constitutional rights of the Old Dominion. What Kentucky will do, is a suggestive question.

No doubt the sentiment of her people is against secession; but could she long remain neutral when the whole of the cotton States, with whom her interest is identified, had seceded? Could she pursue towards them an aggressive policy? This would be unnatural, for Kentucky is deeply sensible of her own wrongs, and strongly sympathizes with those States. There are two feelings, after veneration, which operate more strongly upon the minds of our people than any other to bind them to the Union—they continue to hope ("Man," says Patrick Henry, "naturally indulges in the delusions of hope,") that a returning sense of duty will come over the minds of the Northern people; they also fear greatly the ill consequences of a disruption of the States, having been taught that 'disunionism is a remedy for no evil," and its horrors so often depicted to them, that many would sooner embrace war, pestilence, and famine. With all it is an uncertain plunge—for who can fathom our troubles—and 'tis this uncertainty which

"——Puzzles the will,
And makes us rather bear those ills we have
Than fly to others that we know not of."

The hopes of many a patriot died on the 6th of November, and now the slumbering energies of our people are awakened to a sense of their danger, and will leap the barriers of uncertainty. There must be a reaction in the popular sentiment of the North. Our Constitutional rights must be restored. We must have protection. For this end is government instituted among men, and when it fails to protect, the citizen is absolved from all allegiance. The Government pays annually $15,000,000 for the support of the navy, and the navy protects Northern commerce. On every sea, however stormy, along the torrid shores of Africa, among the icebergs of the North, she follows their white-winged messengers of commerce, and guarantees them protection. Protection is denied the South on the very soil of the Union. Is this equality? Is this justice? Through high protective tariffs and bounties, the North has grown rich and supercilious. The South has borne the burdens of Government, and now all she asks is protection. Shall she have it? Let us make one more appeal to the North to do us justice; that failing, "if Rome must fall, we are innocent."

QUERIES WE CAN'T ANSWER.—A little correspondent, who says she is an "inquisitive little girl," proposes to us the subjoined interrogatories. She says she has heard we are "smart." Well, we rather think we are, little lady; but, as our answers may not be correct, and as we think no one else can so well solve them, we ask the "inquisitive little girl" to send her own answers. Here is her note, with the questions:

LOUISVILLE, KY., Nov. 29, 1860.

Editors Louisville Courier: I have heard it said, by various persons, that the editors of the Courier are very smart men, and I would be pleased to have you answer one or two questions of my own, if, as I am in hopes, you will not think me impertinent:
What is the difference between Charles Kean and Jonah?
Why is an old woman like a bad lemon?
Why is a rush-light like a tombstone?
If you cannot solve the above, let me know through the columns of your paper, and a very inquisitive little girl will answer them.

☞ Mr. J. H. JOHNSTON, the campaign editor of the Frankfort Commonwealth, the BELL State organ, retires from that paper in a valedictory wherein he shows how close the alliance was between the leaders of the two parties opposed to Democracy in the recent contest. He says:

> "The proprietors of the Commonwealth were perfectly aware of my antecedents and of my preferences when they offered me the position of campaign editor of their paper. The defection of the Breckinridge wing of the Democratic party having rendered the success of Senator Douglas an impossibility, I sincerely desired that John Bell might carry Kentucky, and labored earnestly to promote that result. True, I voted for Mr. Douglas, but not until I had first satisfied myself that Mr. Bell could carry Kentucky without the votes of the friends of Mr. Douglas."

SALE OF FREE NEGROES IN SOUTH CAROLINA.—The Charleston Mercury publishes a bill which is to be brought before the Legislature of South Carolina, proclaiming all free negroes to be slaves on and after the 1st of January, to be sold at public auction, and the proceeds to be applied to the tax funds of the various counties. The Mercury, however, accompanies its publication with the following remarks:

> We regard it as a measure harsh in its policy, and wholly unrequired by the public exigencies, while it is mischievous in its effects, and remarkably ill-timed in its promulgation. The Legislature has something else to do besides the discussion of such topics as this, and we sincerely trust that, upon reflection, it will by tacit consent be consigned to the tomb of the Capulets. The measure must fall still-born upon that body.

WHO DESIRES TO MARRY?—The following amusing matrimonial advertisement appears in a recent number of the New York Herald:

> A gentleman, of amiable characteristics, having spent some years in travel through California, Australia, and Europe, is desirous to meet some young ladies of beauty and sweet temper, from among whom he may select a wife. Being somewhat taciturn and reticent, physiological requisition suggests a gay and gushing disposition as the best suited for a symmetrical union. Address immediately ——— ———, Herald office. N. B.—No aversion to widow ladies, whose attractions coincide with the indicated essentials.

A WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH WHILE AT PRAYER.—The Lafayette (Indiana) Courier says:

> Mrs. Catharine Gray, a widow lady, eighty years of age, residing in the south part of town, was burned to death last week under circumstances of a peculiarly distressing character. On Thursday evening she invited a little boy in the neighborhood to keep her company for the night, and after tucking him warmly under the covers, kneeled down at the bedside to say her prayers. While in this position her dress took fire from the candle, and in an instant she was enveloped in flames. The fire communicated to the curtains of the bed, and intent upon the preservation of the child and forgetful of herself, she fought the flames until her hands were burned to a blister, and succeeded in dragging the little fellow into the middle of the room. The affrighted boy broke from her embrace and ran to the nearest neighbors. The alarm was promptly given, but before aid could be procured the poor woman had been burned past recovery.
> The neighbors found her standing in the middle of the floor, with the lower part of her apparel burned entirely off, and her limbs and abdomen horribly disfigured.—The unfortunate woman lingered in great agony until Saturday, when she expired.

A Correction.

SHELBYVILLE, KY., Nov. 29, 1860.

Editors Louisville Courier: I notice in your issue of the 28th inst., the following paragraph:

> "We understand that the typhoid fever has made its appearance in the Female Academy, Rev. Mr. Hill, Principal, at Shelbyville, Ky. Our informant says twenty-five pupils are down with it at present."

This is wholly erroneous. Mr. Hill is not teaching in Shelbyville, and the school formerly controlled by him has not a case of sickness in it. You will please correct the paragraph, and oblige

PARRICIDE.—The Kokomo (Ind.) Tribune says that an old man named P. P. Davis, was killed in Fairfield, Howard county, Indiana, on the 21st inst., by his son, J. W. P. Davis. Both of the parties were worthless characters, and were continually quarreling. On the evening in question, the son, on returning home, found a man named Hawkins in the house, whom he excessively disliked, but whom his father kept to run his errands. After some words had been exchanged, young Davis was about to strike Hawkins, when the father picked up a piece of wood, with which he struck his son, whereupon the latter snatched it from him and beat him over the head, fracturing his skull. The old man died the next day. The parricide was arrested and taken before a very loving justice, who astounded the neighbors by holding him to bail in the sum of $250.

More Bank Suspensions.

The telegraph advises us of the suspension of the banks at Charleston, South Carolina. They, like those of Tennessee, Missouri, Baltimore, and Virginia, have yielded to the pressure of the times and the demands of public necessities. It would be idle to suppose, in a political panic like this, which destroys all confidence, that others are not to follow.

Suspension of the Missouri Banks.

An event which, in our opinion, might have been precipitated a few days earlier, with great advantage to the public, occurred yesterday. We mean the suspension of all the banks of this city, with the exception of the Exchange Bank, of coin payments upon their notes, and a simultaneous suspension of all the branches wherever the telegraph could reach them. We learn further that the Western Bank, at St. Joseph, and the Farmers Bank, at Lexington, on hearing of this action, adopted the same course, and the branches were advised accordingly.—So that, with the exception already named, the Banks of this State have resolved to forfeit their valuable franchises, and to put themselves on the justice of the Legislature for a remission of the forfeiture, rather than to occupy a position when they could do no good to the community, under the circumstances, but much positive injury, and when they were, in the actual condition of the exchanges, liable to be drained of every dollar of coin in their vaults. The managers of the banks have taken great responsibility on themselves, and may meet condemnation in some quarters, but they have done right, and will be sustained. When the fact was announced yesterday, men felt as if they had been relieved of a great weight which had been oppressing the community of which they were a part, and that now they saw better times before them. It was so on 'Change, so on the streets, and everywhere else.—[St. Louis Republican, Thursday.

The New Orleans Picayune of Tuesday says:

> There is no let up as yet in money matters, and no out-side market for paper, but if cotton should continue to go off as freely as to-day, there may be shortly a partial movement in very prime description. This is greatly needed to help us along, as the banks confine their business to renewals, and will scarcely entertain a proposition for a new discount. What makes it worse is the difficulty of obtaining money even on the very soundest collaterals. Two prominent houses engaged in the cotton factorage business, viz: J. J. Person & Co., and Scruggs, Donegan & Co., were compelled to suspend on Saturday, but in both instances the assets largely exceed the liabilities, and every engagement will be provided for.

Affairs in Northern Mexico—Scarcity of Food and Miserable Condition of the People.

An intelligent gentleman, traveling in Northern Mexico, notes incidentally, in a private letter, of the 11th, the following observations:

> You have already, I doubt not, heard of the very great scarcity of food and destitute condition of the people in this country. This is owing to several causes. 1st. The last year's second crop of corn was much injured by frost, thus making that article dear. 2d. This year's first crop was not more than the third of an average, owing to the want of rain in April and May. 3d. The second crop, or rather that planted in June or July, suffered much from the same cause, so that a famine seemed to threaten this miserable people; and when a little rain did fall early in August, they planted again, some as late as the 15th. Though there is now a great breadth of land planted, and the yield is promising, still the fear of an early frost (and the indications are at this time that way) keeps the price up to $1 50 a bushel—a high price, where the poor eat absolutely nothing else, unless it be a little lard, and where the free Mexican receives but $4 or $5 a month and two pecks of corn a week with which to pay rent and buy all the necessaries of life for self and family. The summer having been very dry, however, the people have been spared the usual bilious and remittent fevers.
> The people here are fearfully low in the moral and intellectual scale. Gambling is the sole pastime, and the Sundays are especially devoted to it. It is not long since I knew a man who had to sell out all he had to pay one of these gambling bills of $3,500. Gambling is, in fact, so common among all classes of people that they do not know what to make of a man like myself, who refuses to jugar.
> The political condition of the people is equally wretched, and the government the worst that can be conceived. Vidaurri I believe to be good and liberal, but his officers rob and maltreat the spiritless Mexicans to a fearful extent. And still it is hard to reconcile his being a good man with his approving of his officers robbing the houses of his opponents of even the personal clothing of the owners, and also of their hanging said owners without even the form of a trial. He is also opposed to the Juarez Government, and sets at defiance the mandates of Doblado. This State is in a miserable plight, and an army of 500 men could take it in a week. There is no force to resist an attack. The officers are thieves and cowards, and the soldiers, in addition to these qualities, are all forced to arms, with the exception of some liberated felons and murderers.

POLICE COURT.

GEORGE W. JOHNSTON, JUDGE.

FRIDAY MORNING, Nov. 30.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.—Henry Egert and Phil. were arrested, charged with being drunk and disorderly in their conduct. They gave bail each in $100 for two months.

Charles Letterle and Henry Walton were presented on the above charge, and on a promise to behave in the future, they were discharged.

DRUNKEN WOMEN.—Mary Condon, Mary Hurley, and Ann Burke, a hard looking trio, were arrested charged with being drunk and boisterous in their conduct. In default of $100 each, they were sent to the cave for four months.

Robt. Keenan was also up charged with being disorderly, and after hearing the case his own bond was taken in $100 for three months.

Louis Deibel got too drunk to navigate, and he was arrested, and gave security in $50 to behave in the future.

SUSPECTED FELONS.—Michael Kelley, Peter Keegan and John Kelly, a hard trio, were arrested as suspected felons. The proof was not sufficient, and they were discharged.

STEALING A TURKEY.—Richard Cunningham was presented, charged with stealing a turkey and hog from S. Oliver. Richard wished to have a Thanksgiving dinner, and not being able to purchase the requisites, he took those belonging to another. The proof was not sufficient to make out a felony, and he was sent to the Cave, not being able to give security in $100 to answer a petit larceny.

A FIGHTING PAIR.—Jas. A. Hart and John Ferguson, two hard cases, got full of bad whisky, and thinking themselves big fighters pitched into a soldier company with the intention of licking the crowd, but they were arrested. They were required to give security in $200 each, to be of good behavior for three months, and $50 to answer a misdemeanor.

Thirty-seven blooming, bright-eyed Southern lasses, in cloth of Southern manufacture, of which the staple was peculiar to their homes, was, says a local paper, a sight worth seeing on a Southern fair ground.

The Session of Congress and Political Agitation—No Action Expected on Secession—Republicans not Likely to Ignore their Triumph—proposed Refusal of Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, November 26.

Though Congress is to meet this day week, very little is said or thought about legislative measures. Some suppose that the session will either be one for political agitation merely, or that it will be entirely of a business character. One would suppose that the pending difficulties between the South and the North could, for the next three months, be safely left in the hands of the State Legislatures and the Convention of the Southern States. The interference of Congress is not necessary.

It is not to be supposed that Congress will even attempt any measures for the purpose of arresting the secession movement. The President surely will not recommend such measures. Congress will, no doubt, unite with the President in maintaining the policy of "masterly inactivity" in reference to this matter.

It has been suggested in some quarters that Congress can, by adopting certain declaratory resolutions in regard to the sectional issues of the day, restore confidence to the agitated South. The attempt would be productive of more evil than good, unless it should succeed. Declarations from anti-Republicans would be of no avail, and the Republicans will be slow to inaugurate their triumph by ignoring the principles upon which they have obtained it.

Some of the Southern members of Congress have freely declared that they will not, at the ensuing session, vote for any of the appropriation bills. They are determined, as they say, to bring the Lincoln Government to a stand still after the 30th of June, when the present fiscal year expires. The consequence will be that Mr. Lincoln will be obliged to call Congress in special session to provide for carrying on the Government. For this purpose Congress must assemble in May. In case of the withdrawal of four or five States from the Union before that time, the Black Republicans will have a majority in both Houses, and may carry matters with a high hand.

But it is hoped that Congress will not thus seek to aggravate the difficulties in which the country is involved. ION.

Important from China.

Failure of Negotiations, and an Advance of the Allied Army upon Peking.

[From the Overland China Mail.]

By this mail our news is not of so satisfactory a nature as we could have wished, nor what we had expected after the late events in the North. It would appear that the Chinese Government is determined to let no stone lie unturned by which it can gain time or hinder us. Lord Elgin and Baron Gros arrived at Tien-tsin on the 25th of August, and Kweilliang arrived from Peking on the 30th, accompanied by Hang-fu, the Viceroy of Chili, who was appointed last year to meet Mr. Bruce and Hang-chu, who was formerly Hoppo at Canton, and there engaged in establishing the Foreign Inspectorate of Customs. Negotiations were immediately proceeded with, and everything appeared to be going on quite satisfactorily, when, after a week's delay, the Imperial Commissioners all at once intimated that they had no power to sign the treaty. All further communications were stopped, and the army put in motion for Peking, and news had been received of the advanced portion having reached a place called Yang-tsun-yeh on the 10th. Lord Elgin also left Tien-tsin on the 8th, for Peking. At Tien-tsin a large number of Coolies and carts had been engaged to carry the baggage, but they had deserted on the road, and Lord Elgin's baggage was said to be in difficulties. Pehang and some other places have been evacuated by our troops, and 2,000 will remain to garrison Tien-tsin.

It is difficult to account for the turn events have taken in the North. Various rumors and surmises are afloat. By some it is thought that the amount of indemnity demanded has formed the stumbling-block to an amicable adjustment of our relations, and this point under any circumstances could not be so arranged without much opposition. By others it is thought that Sang-ko-lin-sin wishes to try another throw of the dice, to see if he will not be more fortunate; and another account is, that two new Commissioners have been appointed—one of them a Prince of the blood—and that Kweiliang and his coadjutors have been put forward to sound our demands. All these rumors are equally plausible, but no reliance can be placed on any of them, as they require confirmation. One thing is certain—that the Chinese Government will not give in without a good deal of argument.

HOMICIDE.—Our city was startled on Friday night last by the death of one of our citizens, Capt. Samuel Pigg, at the hands of Mr. Bernard H. Pryor, another of our citizens, and by the wounding of Mr. Pryor by Capt. Pigg. It occurred in front of the Magnolia Saloon, corner of Main and Broadway streets, about 7 o'clock in the evening. Mr. Pigg was shot in the throat, the ball passing down under the right arm and lodging in or near the spine. He lived until 12 o'clock on Saturday night, when he died. From the time he received his wound he was speechless and incapable of motion, but during the greater portion of the time he was sensible of his condition and held communication with his friends by the pressure of his hand.

After Capt. Pigg received his wound, he fired at Mr. Pryor, inflicting a flesh wound in the right thigh—a painful but not a dangerous wound.

Mr. Pryor is at the residence of his father-in-law, Mr. Cole, but is under arrest and guarded by an officer until his wound is sufficiently healed to allow him to be removed to prison, unless he shall be permitted to go upon bail.—[Paducah (Ky.) Herald.

CONGAREE BROKEN DOWN.—We learn, through a letter from Mr. Thos. Puryear to a gentleman in this city, that his horse Congaree has broken down, and will not be able to ever again make his appearance on the turf. The first indication of his approaching failure appeared in his severe four-mile heat with Planet on the Fashion Course last fall, when it was plain to be seen he was not the indomitable racer he had always shown himself to be in his previous invincible career. Mr. Puryear took him back to South Carolina with him shortly after the race, with a view of preparing him for the Southern winter campaign, but he broke down completely under the first strong work he gave him. He will be much missed in many of the fields that were to have been run during the present season and the coming spring.—Wilkes' Spirit.

MURDER AT POTTSVILLE, WASHINGTON COUNTY.—We learn that Harvey Burns was shot on Saturday last by Matthew Isaacs, under the following circumstances: Burns kept a grocery in Pottsville, and Isaacs applied for liquor, which was refused; he went out of the house with Silas Bowling, and soon after Burns was shot at through the window and killed.—Three others were implicated in the murder. Isaacs and Bowling and two others were tried before an examining court; the two former were sent on for further trial, and the two latter were acquitted.—[Lebanon Kentuckian.

☞ The President of one of the banks of this city, who has few superiors as an intelligent man or a sound financier, expresses his conviction that, during the present financial crisis, this city has already lost fifty millions of dollars. A depressed Republican earnestly inquired of him "when this decline in stocks was going to stop?" He replied, "Never! until you repeal all your Liberty Bills, and give the South their rights."—[Journal of Commerce.

☞ In 1810, the total population of the city of New Orleans was 16,242. The census of 1820 gave a population of 27,176. In 1830 the returns show 46,310 inhabitants. In 1840 the city had a population of 102,193. The census for 1850 gives 116,376 souls; and that of 1860 swells the number up to 170,766.

☞ John W. Lewis, charged with killing Ed. Keuna, at Charleston, Kanawha county, Va., about four years ago, came back a few days since, and delivered himself up for trial. The magistrate to whom he presented himself, held him to bail in the sum of $500.

RELIC OF THE ANCIENT BRITONS.—A curious relic has been discovered at Moorcourt, near Ramsey, England, an estate belonging to Lord Palmerston, of a lady's neck ornament, of pure gold, and supposed to be of the time of the ancient Britons.

☞ Jules Janin, the famous French critic, has invented a new oath. One of his recent reviews commences with the ejaculation—"By Garibaldi!"

☞ It is stated that the man in Montreal, Canada, who held the patent right for making paper out of straw, has sold out for $500,000.

The Burch Divorce Case.

NAPERVILLE, Nov. 27.—Court met at half past nine o'clock. Counsel for the defense waived the point raised last night, and expressed a willingness to admit the alleged confessions, and leave the proof of the manner in which it was obtained to the jury. The papers were then read.—The first, in Burch's handwriting, is as follows:

> "In the presence of Almighty God, the great Creator, Judge of all men, who will save in Heaven with everlasting salvation, or plunge forever into Hell, my soul according to the sufficiency of His grace, and as the tenor of my life shall be, I now solemnly declare and swear, under the threatened penalty of eternal damnation, should I declare falsely and utter a lie, that my child, Harriet Corning Burch, is the child and offspring of Isaac H. Burch; and I further solemnly swear that the first criminal conversation and act of adultery I ever had or committed with David Stuart, was committed on the 14th of October, 1857. At the time of the said act of adultery, I was, to my certain knowledge, pregnant with Harriet Corning Burch, and had been so pregnant for the space of near two months prior to the time of such act of adultery.
> "I further swear that said David Stuart committed acts of adultery by having illicit connection with me at various times—think seven times—all of which were performed from the 14th day of October, when they first began, up to and after the birth of Harriet, which was on the 24th day of May, 1858. I further swear that Isaac Burrell has been the bearer of quite a number of improper letters between David Stuart and myself, surreptitiously sent, and I believe his agency between said Stuart and myself has greatly aided said Stuart in causing my seduction and ruin.

The second paper is as follows, dated January 17, 1860:

> "In justice to my husband and children, I make the following statement:
> "From the early part of the year 1857 I had acquaintance with David Stuart, saw him occasionally previous to August, in the same year. From that time (August) he was unceasing in his determination in attempts to ruin me. I resisted him, God in Heaven knows, and for nearly three months, but it seemed as if I were infatuated, and after so long repelling his advances, I, to my shame, confess that he finally conquered, and on the 14th day of October, 1857, I fell a victim to his damnable seductive arts. On that day I had a criminal connection with him, and God forgive me, this was repeated at different times by six or seven acts of adultery during the month of November, and until the 24th of December, in the same year. This intimacy then ceased, and I seldom saw Stuart. He called two or three times after my brother's death, in February, 1858, but there was no further criminal intercourse between us. He was not in the house from than time until after my return from the East, in December, 1859, when he called once or twice, as other gentlemen did.—About the last of October, 1859, during my husband's absence in Burlington, where he had gone for three days, he called, and said: 'Your husband will be away to-night; I am coming here after all have retired.' I said: 'No, Mr. Stuart, I can never do that in the world.'
> "He urged and I refused. He then insisted on again accomplishing his purpose, which I utterly refused to allow, but without any effect, for he threw me upon the lounge and insisted. I was frightened, and told him I could never consent to such a thing again. My infatuation was gone; but, alas! I was in his power. I strove with him and wept bitterly, and then told him, in order to have him cease, that I would allow him to visit me that night. He said then, 'When all is quiet, leave the shutter open in your room; come down to the front room, which you must not fasten.' This I promised from fear. He did not, however, get in. I fastened the door, shut the blinds, and went to bed. Stuart did not then, or any other night, visit me. I should think about the 20th of November, while my husband was at a meeting of the Historical Society, at W. H. Brown's, Stuart was here, and at that time made advances to me, which I repelled. I was ill at the time.
> "This is the extent of my whole acquaintance and intercourse, familiar and otherwise, with this vile man. God forgive me all the acts I have committed, for I do most humbly and sincerely repent me of them. I should have added above that at no time did Stuart accomplish his hellish purpose without the utmost resistance on my part. In every instance I was forced to it. I have written the above with my own free will, after much deliberation and pain, and have read it carefully before signing.

Every man of intelleck has got his Fort. Danil Webster's Fort was to speecherfy in the Hauls of Kongriss & make Dickshunaries.

A THOUGHT FOR THE YOUNG MEN.—More may be learned by devoting a few moments daily to reading, than is commonly supposed. Five pages may be read in fifteen minutes, at which rate one may peruse twenty-six volumes, of two thousand pages each in a year. You say you have none to guide you. The best scholars and men of science will tell you by far the most valuable part of their education is that which they have given themselves. Volumes have been filled with the biography of self-taught men. Think of Franklin, the printer; of Linne, the shoemaker; of John Hunter, the cabinet-maker; of Herschel, the musician; of Donald, the weaver; of Turner, the printer; of Burritt, the blacksmith. Love learning, and you will be learned. Where there is a will there is a way. Begin at once, take time by the forelock, and remember that it is only the first step that costs, and having begun, resolve to learn something every day. Strike the blow, and avoid the weakness of those who spend half of their life in thinking what they shall do next. Always have a volume near you which you can catch up at such odd minutes as are your own. It is incredible, until trial has been made, how much real knowledge may be acquired in these broken fragments of time, which are like the dust of gold and diamonds.

☞ M. Leverrier believes that the spots seen on the sun's disk are clouds in its atmosphere. His opinion is that the sun is not a luminous body, on account of its high temperature, but that it is a huge solid or liquid body, surrounded by an atmosphere. A common opinion respecting the constitution of the sun is, that it has a luminous atmosphere, but an opaque body, and the spots seen on the sun are open spaces formed by unknown causes in the luminous atmosphere. This subject is still shrouded in mystery, and on this very account it excites more general interest.

PAINFUL OCCURRENCE.—Hon. Edward Y. Hill, of Georgia, was stricken with paralysis, while addressing a meeting of the people at La Grange a few days ago. He survived three days in an unconscious state.

☞ During a recent trial at Bayonne, France, it was proven that a wealthy merchant, sixty years old, had nine different mistresses and three wives. What a Solomon!

☞ The Austin, Texas, Gazette says that Breckinridge's majority in that State may exceed 40,000.

☞ The State of Georgia, by the new census, has a population of 1,075,977—an increase of 61,550 since 1850.

☞After an experience of one year in putting up Vulcanite Base, Messrs. Fitch & Fulton are more fully prepared to indorse the claims of superiority to everything else as a base for Artificial Teeth. When they introduced it in Louisville they advertised it as follows: That it was one half lighter than metal, more cleanly, and that they were more certain of getting a perfect fit of the mouth. They now go farther, and say that it is much stronger than sets on metal, and less liable to be injured by accident, while the low price brings it within the reach of all. Believing that their efforts to give the best work at small profits will be appreciated, they have determined on a reduction of their prices. To substantiate the above they pledge themselves to replace with gold, without extra charge, any set on Vulcanite that fails in any one particular as set forth above. They still put up the gold work for those who desire it.

The "Democratic Union Party"—Messrs. J. B. Cochran & Co.

Mr. JOHN B. COCHRAN, signing himself "Chairman Democratic State Committee," has called—what? A Democratic State Convention? Not that, exactly. But a "Democratic State Union Convention!" And not only has he called such a convention, but he has assumed the right to define the basis of the proposed "Union," and the principles that must be professed by those who seek or demand admission into the convention. In other words, Mr. J. B. COCHRAN and the Committee with whom he acts have resolved that the Bell men and the Douglas men must unite; that the basis of this Union must be the late "Union" platform—"The Union, the Constitution, and the Enforcement of the Laws," with the explanatory addition of "Squatter Sovereignty;" and that the friends of the late Mr. DOUGLAS must ignore the old State Rights doctrines they once advocated, the resolutions of 1798 and 1799, which they once indorsed, and every article of the creed they formerly adhered to, while those who supported Mr. BELL are only to give up their objections to what the Journal has so fiercely and justly attacked as an "Abolition policy." It is upon this foundation that Messrs. COCHRAN & Co., propose erecting a political superstructure that is expected to overcome all opposition. It is to be a new party, the "Democratic State Union" party; they are to assemble in a "Democratic State Union Convention;" and it is to be composed of "citizens of the Commonwealth, without respect to parties."

Messrs. J. B. COCHRAN & Co. are hopeful, notwithstanding the result of the recent election; and they doubtless look forward to the happiest results from this—not coup d'etat, but pronunciamento rather, their call resembling the remarkable bulletins bearing that name so frequently issued by petty chieftains and leaders in Mexico, more than anything else we can think of, though, to make the likeness more striking, it should have concluded with "God and liberty!" or at least some catch word that would be a decent substitute for the Mexican war cry.

It is not at all likely their expectations will be realized. The people of Kentucky are, with singular unanimity, opposed to the doctrine that assumes the right of the collectors of an Emigrant Aid Society to exclude the citizens of the slave States with their property from Territories acquired by the courage of Southern men and paid for with Southern dollars. In the recent canvass, the leading paper in the interests of Mr. BELL, the Louisville Journal, frankly asserted that that distinguished gentleman was opposed to Squatter Sovereignty, and in favor of protection to slave property in the Territories; and the Opposition party in the State, committed to that position by their course in the gubernatorial contest of 1859, supported Mr. BELL on the ground that he was in favor of protecting what they believed, and yet believe, are Southern rights in the common Territories. Mr. BRECKINRIDGE stood on a platform that fairly met these questions in regard to slavery. Every vote in Kentucky for BELL or BRECKINRIDGE was a vote against Squatter Sovereignty and non-protection to slave property. Granting, which we believe is not the case, that all of those who supported Mr. DOUGLAS are in favor of Squatter Sovereignty and opposed to protection, and assuming, correctly, we believe, that all the supporters of Mr. LINCOLN are ready to accept these doctrines, how stand the people of the State on these questions? Opposed to Squatter Sovereignty and in favor of protection, 112,414 votes; in favor of Squatter Sovereignty and opposed to protection, 27,134 votes!

The last number, then, must constitute the strength of the party which Messrs. COCHRAN & Co. are attempting to bring into existence, unless a portion of those who supported Mr. BELL will so far forget the obligations they owe to the country as to permit their ancient antipathies to lead them astray in order to maintain an organized opposition to the Democratic party. This, we believe, they will not do now, whatever, under other circumstances, and at another time, they might do. The time has come when even politicians dare not trifle with the right, and when the people can no longer be led astray by designing and ambitious demagogues. New parties cannot now be built up by contract, or constructed and put in working trim by professional politicians. In the march of events, it is possible that party lines may be entirely obliterated, both in the free States and the slave States. Old political leaders may sink to rise no more, and new men may take the helm and guide public sentiment and shape party action. But for the present, at least, probably for years, the rights of the slaveholding States and of the people of the slaveholding States must be the great, controlling, and only question of party division; and if men who claim the right to partisan leadership, or aspire to that position, persist in being blind, or are unable to remove the beam from their eyes, and cannot see this fact, and act on it, then the mortification of merited failure and disgrace will be a necessary consequence of an attempt of the "blind to lead the blind."

The course of Messrs. COCHRAN & Co. in thrusting their absurd dogma on the public attention at this time, when other matters of the gravest import require deliberate reflection and press for prudent and patriotic action, cannot be too much censured. Not content with thrusting this doctrine on the Democratic party, thus dividing and defeating it, these men so intent on the accomplishment of their most unworthy partisan purposes as not to realize the condition of the country, issue their manifesto, looking only to the benefit of a hopeless faction, and ask the people of the State to give up the consideration of the great questions that may at any day and in any hour involve them in civil war, and on the solution of which depends the future position of the State, and by which the welfare of the people of the nation may be affected!

While other men, ignoring party and partisanship and party measures, are gravely and earnestly attempting to devise some practical plan for securing the rights of the South and preserving the Union, Messrs. J. B. COCHRAN & Co. can only think of some means of keeping a party in existence, or of building up a new one! While others are discussing the possibility of an attempt being made by the Federal Government to use force against a seceding State, and the position Kentucky ought to take in such a contingency, Messrs. J. B. COCHRAN & Co. are engaged in the laudable business of party manufacturing! While others, looking at the certainty of the withdrawal of at least a portion of the slaveholding States from the Union as at present constituted, are considering whether Kentucky should go with her Southern sisters, where her sympathies and interests and safety lie, or cling to that North which even now denies her equality and violates her rights, Messrs. J. B. COCHRAN & Co., in apparent blissful ignorance that anything unusual is agitating the country, are calling party conventions and working diligently at party combinations and coalitions, without the slightest regard to passing events.

Messrs. J. B. COCHRAN & Co. are wasting "their sweetness on the desert air." Their proclamation will be unheeded. Their convention will be composed of a "beggarly array of empty benches." The counties will not respond. The people will give their attention, and direct their serious thoughts, not to Messrs. COCHRAN & Co.'s party, but to the practical issue they will be called on to meet and decide in a few months at farthest—they will devote their energies, not for or against the "Democratic Union" party, but, first, to restore the Constitution, secure the rights of the South, and preserve the Union; and should that fail, then to the best means of maintaining their rights and vindicating their equality and independence.

☞A portion of those who supported Mr. BELL, as of those who voted for Mr. DOUGLAS, in this State, beyond any doubt, if they had dared vote their sentiments, would have enlisted under the LINCOLN banner. Such men are now doing all they can to convince our people that Black Republicanism is all right, and its late representative a true patriot, while endeavoring to make the impression abroad that Kentucky is at least semi-abolitionized.

The following extract from a letter from this city to the National Intelligencer is probably from the pen of one of this class, and reflects the feelings of others; but the writer evidently is ignorant of the disposition of the great mass of those to whom he alludes as "our Bell and Douglas men;" and we quote the following paragraphs mainly to show our people, and particularly those who supported Bell and Douglas, how they are understood by some among them, and how they are represented abroad. The Intelligencer's correspondent says:

> So his [Mr. Bell's] Kentucky friends gracefully submit to the fact of Mr. Lincoln's election, and also entreat the Cotton States, from regard for their own and the border slave States' interests, for the welfare and peace of the nation, and for the opinion and good will of the civilized world, likewise to submit thereto; to exercise prudence, deliberation, and moderation; to count the cost and ponder the consequences of secession; "not precipitate," but "await to see" what President Lincoln may do. Gov. Magoffin himself, you know, openly recognizes and bows to the feeling and voice of the people of Kentucky, that the election of Abraham Lincoln is no cause for secession or rebellion anywhere.
> As for our Bell and Douglas men, their Union attitude is of course unchanged and unchangeable. They apprehend no earthquake or tornado hereabouts. They do not indulge in croaking or misgiving. They are generally hopeful and confident that all will yet be well. Many are even speaking kindly of Mr. Lincoln. HON. JUDGE ROBERTSON, OF LEXINGTON, FOR ONE, SINCE AS BEFORE THE ELECTION, AVOWS THAT IN HIS OPINION, MR. LINCOLN IS TOO SENSIBLE TO DO ANYTHING ABOUT SLAVERY, IF HE COULD; AND THAT HE, THE JUDGE, AND A LARGE SLAVEHOLDER, WILL FEEL JUST AS SECURE UNDER PRESIDENT LINCOLN AS HE WOULD UNDER MR. BELL, MR. BRECKINRIDGE, OR MR. DOUGLAS. Indeed I doubt not that he and many other most respectable and substantial citizens of Kentucky anticipate from "honest Lincoln" only a change for the better in the administration of the Government; a good, old-fashioned, pure, and national regime; generous and liberal to the comprehensive patriots of every section and party, and maintaining the Union, the Constitution, and the enforcement of the laws—the Fugitive Slave Law and anti-foreign slave trade laws included.

"Anticipate from 'honest Lincoln' only a change for the better in the administration of the Government!" Comment is not needed!

☞The Squatter Sovereigns are even more difficult to please in a name than the other wing of the former opposition to the Democratic party was. That never, we believe, changed its name more than once a year. The Squatters have assumed, at various times since August last, to be "Union-ites," "Douglas Democrats," "Douglas men," and now "Democratic Union Men!"

An Extra Session of the Legislature.

Since we suggested the propriety of an extra session of the Legislature, we have conversed with a number of the most eminent gentlemen in the State, representing all parties as heretofore constituted, and without one exception they agree that the impending crisis in our public affairs makes a convocation of the representatives of the people necessary. Further reflection serves to confirm us in the belief that Governor MAGOFFIN owes it to himself, and in a greater degree to the people of the State, to convene the Legislature. It is not denied that we are on the eve of great events. Northern aggression, culminating in and open declaration of war against slavery and the slave States by seventeen of the free States (and the election of LINCOLN can be regarded in no other light), has at last reached a point where a number of the Southern States believe resistance is necessary to their own safety; and feeling thus, the people of South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, and Arkansas, if we may credit the concurrent accounts of all parties, are determined at once to withdraw from the Union. Kentucky is deeply, vitally interested in a movement fraught with results so momentous as this; and it is unquestionably the disposition of her people to preserve the Union if in their power to do so by any means consistent with their peace, honor, and safety. With such interests at stake—her whole future wrapped up in this movement—as yet her people have done nothing, and had it in their power to do nothing, either to avert dissolution, or if it must come, to control and guide it to a peaceful issue. County meetings are to a certain extent indicative of public sentiment; but the resolves of county meetings and primary assemblages of the people will not suffice in an emergency so grave as this. If we would induce the Northern States to retrace their steps and return to the Constitution they have so long ignored, we must act in such a manner, and speak under such circumstances, as to give what is done and said the weight of that authority which can only emanate from the united people through their representatives. And if our counsels to the South are to have influence, they must be uttered in the same manner. At any rate, no harm can come of a meeting of the Legislature; and should the worst fears of the friends of the Constitution and the Union be realized, the people cannot then blame those in authority for withholding from them on opportunity to try at least in a formal authoritive manner, through their immediate representatives, to secure their rights in the Union.

The Three Wise Men of Gotham.

The three wise men of Gotham who went to sea in a bowl, after a long and prosperous voyage landed in the City of Falls, where henceforth forever they dwelt and propagated. (Now, Mr. ——, you know we don't mean you!) In the year A. D. 1860, much confusion took place in public affairs, and it was generally decided that "something must be done." So the three wise men of Gotham met together, and having found a mare's nest, appointed a committee of one to lay an egg, on which they marked the word "Union," so that they might know it wheresoever they saw it. And these three patient wise men, having put on feather breeches, placed that egg in the mare's nest they had found, and resolved that they would hatch from the egg an American Eagle, which everybody learned, in the autumn of 1860, was a remarkable bird of Freedom. So the three wise men sat warm and close for two weeks, which they agreed was long enough incubation to hatch any reasonable bird, and then they announced that as the public had decided "something must be done," so they had "done something." And they called all the world to see the egg, which wouldn't hatch. And lo! while they wot not, a cuckoo came and sat upon their nest. Now, when the people had gathered together, behold in the nest were two eggs so much alike that no one could tell the difference. But the wise men of Gotham took them up, and on one was written "Union;" so they had the other cast out and destroyed. And all the people admired the marked egg, and said it was good. But Tyll Owlglass asked, "What use is an egg that brings forth nothing, even though it be laid by the wise men of Gotham?"

Then up spake the wise men of Gotham, "It is a Bird of Freedom egg, but we sat upon it two weeks and it brought forth nothing, in which consists the miracle and omen: for an egg with nothing in it is, say the Sybilline books, a sign of peace to a distracted country."

Whereupon the people voted, by long division, that these wise men should have crowns of gold.

But Tyll Owlglass said that it "took goose eggs four weeks to hatch, whilst these wise men have sat but two." Whereupon with a great mallet he broke the egg, and it was found to contain an abortive gosling.

Now, then, the people would have stoned Tyll Owlglass but that he made his escape under a convenient disguise, for said the burgomaster, "Of what use are wise men to find signs and omens if any man can come and break the shell thereof and show what is within? Let honor be done to the three wise men of Gotham."

☞The Louisville Democrat publishes an extract from a Philadelphia letter, the writer of which thinks the Northern people are not at all hostile to slavery, having only voted for and elected LINCOLN and indorsed the irrepressible conflict in order to get rid of the abuses of Democracy! The "distinguished" Philadelphian (for he is indorsed as such), is in favor of protecting Southern rights, and believes Mr. LINCOLN is a "just and independent man;" and takes Mr. PRENTICE as his beau ideal of a public man. Does the Democrat believe its Philadelphia friend is right in his views of the Democratic party, of the Black Republicans, of Mr. LINCOLN, and of Mr. PRENTICE? Do the people of Kentucky think, granting the Democrat's correspondent is right, as he is not, they can safely trust men, who, to gratify their hostility to the Democratic party, voted for LINCOLN and his incendiary doctrines? If the peace, and the safety, and the rights, and the honor of the people of the slave States are to be thus trifled with and thus imperiled, should they not take steps to provide for their own security and future welfare?

All Northern papers that indulge in taunts against the South, and all Southern papers that indulge in taunts against the North, are ministering, conciously or unconsciously, to the ends of treason. 'Tis a pity that the punishment they deserve cannot be inflicted upon them.—[Louisville Journal.

Suppose we grant it all:—are not Southern papers "that indulge in taunts against the South quite as criminal as those that indulge in "taunts against the North?" If so, what are we to think of the Journal, which thus alludes to the great majority of the people in each of seven or eight States, the paragraph we quote below being from the article immediately following that given above, and both from the Journal of Thursday:

> These secessionists stigmatize as "submissionists" all who are willing to submit to the laws of the land. Banditti and outlaws generally adopt the same vocabulary.

☞Quoting a sneer at the Southern chivalry from the New York Tribune, the Journal says:

"There! whatever may be said of the ingratitude of Republics, who shall now say that Republicans are ungrateful? 'A dozen or two good fellows kept in office through Mr. Lincoln's Administration!' What more handsome and touching recognition of 'a good turn' can be imagined? Neighbor of the Courier, don't you speak first?"

We know of no BRECKINRIDGE men who desire, or would accept, office under Mr. LINCOLN, but as the Journal has appealed to us, we will in turn call upon the editors of that influential organ to say whether, within their knowledge, any application has been made to Mr. LINCOLN to appoint a leading BELL politician of this State to a seat in the Cabinet? We expect an answer.

SUBMARINE TELEGRAPH.—Twelve thousand eight hundred miles of submarine telegraph have been laid in various parts of the world, only 1200 of which are in working order.

☞The amount of lands sold during the year, ending in June, was 3,461,000 acres, and the amount received therefor was $1,648,000.

McCARRELL,
AT THE CENTRAL MUSIC HOUSE, 300 Jefferson street, between Third and Fourth, says that, in Louisville, Jeffersonville and New Albany, there are at least one hundred thousand people. Of this number, at least one fifth ought to be musically inclined, and each of the twenty thousand ought to buy at least one piece of Music every week—especially in these hard times for these are just the times to indulge in music. He does not pretend to call on all these twenty thousand to buy from him, because he is doubtful if he would be able to accommodate them all. But he wants his share; and, as his is the only exclusively retail Music Store in the city, he estimates his share at ten thousand. That number he can, if not now able, make arrangements to accommodate. But, he says, don't all come at once—some to day, some to-morrow, and so on. dec1

THAT beautiful and valuable property so well known as the
located in the "Blue Grass Region" of Central Kentucky, and more recently known as the Western Branch of the Military Asylum, consisting of about 200 acres, with stabling necessary to accommodate about seventy-five horses, which will require roofing and repairs; also smoke and other outhouses, and sixteen well built brick cottages, as also a handsome and commodious Ball Room.
The undersigned having been appointed agent to dispose of the above-named property, will receive proposals for its purchase up to the 1st day of May, 1861, and if not sold by that time, it will, on the 10th day of that month, be put up on the premises at public auction and sold to the highest bidder, subject to the limit named in the 1st section of the act of Congress, authorizing and directing its sale, approved June 15th, 1860.
Proposals will be addressed to me at Washington City, D. C., accompanied by a reference as to the ability of the person offering to purchase, to comply with the terms proposed, stating how much of the purchase money will be paid in cash, and what time will be required on the deferred payments; the remaining payments must be secured by a lien on the property. If required, a liberal credit will be given on the deferred payments, by paying the interest on the same semi-annually.
A deed in fee simple will be made by the undersigned on approval of the sale by the Secretary of War, and on the payment in full of the purchase money, as directed in the second section of the act above referred to. T. L. ALEXANDER,

The following are among the advantages they possess over all other machines:
1st. They are simple, strong and durable, easily understood and managed, and not liable to get out of order.
2d. They use cotton from the ordinary spool, without rewinding, saving time, trouble and waste.
3d. The stitch is stronger and more difficult to rip than any other made by machinery, and is superior to the best hand sewing. The two threads are double looped into each other, and firmly tied and knotted at every stitch. The principle of this stitch is the same as the celebrated Grover & Baker's, with the exception that the objectional cord on the under side is entirely dispensed with, and leaves a perfectly strong, smooth, and even seam.
4th. They sew Cotton, Linen and Silk Thread equally well.
5th. They FINISH their work. There is no occasion to fasten the threads at either end of the seam, as is required by all shuttle stitch Machines.
6th. Every machine is made to run by hand or foot power, thus combining the advantages of both methods.
Several thousand respectable families in different places in the East, West and South pronounce this the best Machine in the world for family use, which is quite sufficient to insure an examination of our Machine.
All letters of inquiry with an extra postage stamp will insure a reply and a circular.

A CARD.

UNITED STATES HOTEL, October 2, 1860.
To Mr. HUGH WILKINS:

THE CARPET LINING put down for us by you is the only thing of the kind that we have ever seen that we would care to have put under our carpets. So much are we pleased with it, that we would be very unwilling to have another carpet (old or new) put down without it. The difference between a room where it is used and where it is not, is so striking as to arrest the attention of the most ordinary servant. It is worth more than it cost in the increased softness and pleasantness it gives the carpet, and we think you do not overrate its economy in stating that it adds one half to the carpet's wear. If our recommendation of it will add anything to your sales we cheerfully give it, feeling we do your customers a much greater kindness than we do you.

Arabian Horses.

Capt. Shakspeare, in a book entitled "The Wild Sports of India, with remarks on the Breeding and Rearing of Horses," &c., makes the following comparison of the Arabian and English race-horse:

The points of the highest caste Arab horse, as compared with the English thoroughbred, are as follows: The head is more beautifully formed and more intelligent; the forehead broader, the muzzle finer, the eye more prominent, more sleepy-looking in repose, more brilliant when the animal is excited. The ear is more beautifully set, and of exquisite shape and sensitiveness. On the back of the trained hunter, the rider is scarcely required to keep his eye on anything but the ears of his horse, which give indications of everything that his ever-watchful eye catches sight of. The nostril is not always so open in a state of rest, and indeed often looks thick and closed; but in excitement, and when the lungs are in full play from the animal's being at speed, it expands greatly, and the membrane shows scarlet, as if on fire. The game-cock throttle—that most exquisite formation of the throat and jaws of the blood-horse—is not so commonly seen in the Arab as in the thoroughbred English race-horse; nor is the head quite so lean. The jaws, for the size of the head, are perhaps more apart, giving more room for the expansion of the windpipe. The point where the head is put on the neck is quite as delicate as in the English horse. This junction has much more to do with the mouth of the horse than most people are aware of, and on it depends the pleasure or otherwise of the rider. The bones, from the eye down towards the lower part of the head, should not be too concave, or of a deer's form; for this in the Arab, as in the English horse, denotes a violent temper, though it is very beautiful to look at. Proceeding to the neck, we notice that the Arab stallion has rarely the crest that an English stallion has. He has a strong, light, and muscular neck, a little short perhaps compared to the other, and thick. In the pure breeds, the neck runs into the shoulders very gradually; and generally, if the horse has a very good crest, comes down rather perpendicularly into the shoulders; but often, if he is a little ewe-necked, which is not uncommon with the Arab, it runs too straight, and low down into the shoulders. The Arab horse, however, rarely carries his head, when being ridden, so high in proportion as the English. He is not so well topped, which I attribute to the different way he is reared, and to his not being broken in regularly, like the English horse, before he is put to work. His shoulders are not so flat and thin, and he is thicker through in these parts generally for his size than the English thoroughbred horse. His girth does not show so deep, that is, he does not look so deep over the heart; but between the knees and behind the saddle, where the English horse very often falls off, the Arab is barrel-ribbed; and this gives him his wonderful endurance, and his great constitutional points. This also prevents him from getting knocked up in severe training or under short allowance of food, and in long marches. His chest is quite broad enough and deep enough for either strength or bottom. The scapula, or shoulder-blade, is, both in length and backward inclination, compared to the humerus, or upper bone of the arm, quite as fine in the high caste Arab as in the English horse, while both bones are generally better furnished with muscles, better developed, and feel firmer to the hand. But some of the very fastest Arabs have their fore legs very much under them, indeed so much, that no judge would buy an English horse so made. Yet, whether it be that this form admits of the joints between these bones becoming more opened, when the horse extends himself, or whatever be the cause, it is a fact that blood-horses thus made are almost always fast horses. The upper part of their shoulder-blade seems to run back under the front part of the saddle, when they are going their best. This formation is most common in the lower-sized Arab, and apparently makes up to him for his deficiency in hight. The very finest actioned Arabs have had this peculiarity of form. They are apt to become chafed at the elbow points by the girths, and almost require to have saddles made on purpose for them. The elbow point, that essential bone, which for the sake of leverage should be prominent, is fine in the Arab, and generally plays clear of the body. The fore-arm is strong and muscular, and is pretty long; the knee square, with a good speedy cut for the size of the animal, equal to the English horse; while below the knee the Arab shines very conspicuously, having a degree of power there, both in the suspensor ligaments and flexor tendons, far superior, in proportion to his size, to the English horse. These are distinct and away from the shank bone; they give a very deep leg, and act mechanically to great advantage. The bone looks small, but then it is very dense, the hollow which contains the marrow being very small, and the material solid, more like ivory than bone, heavy and close grained. The flexor tendons are nearly as large and thick as the canon bone. The pasterns and their joints are quite in keeping with the bones above them, and are not so long, straight and weak as those of the English horse. The feet are generally in the same proportion; but the Arabs themselves appear to be very careless in their treatment of them. The body or center-piece of the Arab horse has rarely too great length. This is a very uncommon fault in the pure breed; and there is no breed of horses that are more even in this respect than the Arab. Behind this, we come to a great peculiarity in the breed—his croup. I might say an Arab horse is known by it; he is so much more beautifully made in his hind quarters, and in the way his tail is put on, than most other breeds. His loins are good; he is well coupled; his quarters are powerful, and his tail carried high; and this even in castes that have very little more than a high-bred stallion to recommend them. The straight dropped hind leg is always a recommendation, and almost all racing Arabs have it; and this, when extended, brings the hind foot under the stirrup, and the propellers being of this shape, give a vast stride, without fear of overreach. The thighs and hocks are good; the latter very rarely know either kind of spavin or curbs. The points and processes are pre-eminently well adapted for the attachment of the muscles; while the flexor tendons of the hind legs generally correspond with those of the fore. The hocks are not so much let down, nor the hind legs so greyhound-like as in the thoroughbred English horse.

Brains the Manure for Wet Lands.

Under this quaint caption the editor of the Homestead remarks:

We are asked every day or two what manure will do on certain lands described as holding water a good while, or where it is "tolerably dry comes first of June of a good season," or where coarse grass and brakes will come in as soon as it has lain in grass a year or two, and where you can't get half a crop of anything. Under the direction of Boussingault, the Royal and Central Agricultural Society of France addressed a circular to Agriculturists, inquiring into the use of gypsum. One of the questions related to its use on wet meadows, and the universal response was that it had no beneficial effect. Stable and yard manure is as good as thrown away. If the land dries as early as the first part of June, a dressing of horse and cow manure, rather heating, applied late in May, will help warm up the land and make a crop of corn, but that will be the end of it. Ashes applied in the spring, also, is of temporary benefit. Guano or superphosphate must be applied in the hill or on the surface with a knowledge that an unusual season will neutralize the effects. Tax the brain a little—devise a plan for thoroughly draining the land, and then your manure will tell its story year after year, and the probability is that such land will become the richest and most remunerative on the farm.

GREAT GROWTH OF TREES.—Mr. D. B. Pierson remarked at a meeting of the Cincinnati Horticultural Society, August 25th, that he has one hundred pear trees, half dwarf, and half standard, that this season have made a growth of from four to six feet. They were planted in the spring of 1859, in clay soil, and underdrained, trench and surface manured. The size of the stock has increased in proportion. His seedling maples, four years old, have grown this season from eight to ten feet.

A PEACH TREE FIFTY-FIVE YEARS OLD.—Mr. Eli Cannon, of Aurora, Portage county, Ohio, has a peach tree on his farm which was planted in the fall of 1805. The stone was brought from Massachusetts that year by Stephen Cannon, and planted by him, where the tree is now growing. It has borne almost every year since, and the fruit is of good size and very palatable.

HOW THE SHAKERS UNLOAD HAY.—Mr. Bartlett says, in the Country Gentleman, that the Shakers of Canterbury, New Hampshire, have constructed a barn so that the load is drawn to the upper story, and the hay is "pitched down," instead of up. Formerly they used a grappling hook, and horse power, which at four "grabs" would carry a large load to the top of the building; now they have no use for it.

THE TAGGINGS.—The best manure for cabbages is the taggings of sheep—a small quantity to be placed at the root of each plant. Don't waste them.

Medicinal.

LOUISVILLE
Private Medical Dispensary,
Conducted on the European Plan,
For the Cure of all Private Diseases.

YOUTH & MANHOOD

Those afflicted with any disease of a PRIVATE NATURE, who would escape the imposition of ignorant quacks, should not fail to read "DR. GATES' PRIVATE MEDICAL TREATISE ON SEXUAL DISEASES," a new and revised edition of one hundred pages, handsomely illustrated with plates and engravings representing the genital organs of both sexes in a state of health and disease. Treating on all private diseases incident to both sexes, such as seminal nervousness and sexual debility, solitary habits, seminal weakness, impotence, &c. Price by mail FIFTY CENTS.

YOUNG, MIDDLE AGED, and OLD MEN, who, by indulging in solitary habits or excessive indulgence of their passions, have produced seminal weakness, or a debility in advance of their years, may be restored to their former health and vigor by making immediate application.

TO THE LADIES—Dr. Gates is agent for M. LA CROIX'S FRENCH PREVENTIVE POWDERS. By their use, those who, from any cause, wish to limit the number of their offsprings, can do so without danger to health or constitution. Price, by mail, $2 and two postage stamps.

Also, for MAD. CAPRAU'S FEMALE MONTHLY PILLS—A safe and effectual remedy for Irregularities, Obstructions, &c. Price, by mail, $1 and one postage stamp.

CAUTION.—These Pills should not be taken during PREGNANCY, as they are sure to produce MISCARRIAGE.

To persons at a distance, who wish to be cured at home, we will, on the receipt of a brief statement of their case, send a list of such questions as we would ask on a personal interview, and on receipt of the list filled out, we will forward medicines particularly adapted to the case, free from damage or observation, to any part of the country, with full directions for use.

Consultation may be held from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M., (or Sunday from 8 to 11 A. M.) at his office, Northeast corner of Third and Market streets. Private entrance on Third street, Louisville, Ky.

The above business will hereafter be conducted under the name and style of DR. H. G. MILLER & CO., to whom all orders and letters should be addressed. Dr. GATES can, as heretofore, be consulted personally, during business hours, on all diseases on which his book treats.

Secrecy inviolable! Don't forget the name and place. Address DR. H. G. MILLER & CO.,

YOU LOOK IN VAIN
FOR A GREY HAIR
On the Head of a Person Who Uses
HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE
HAIR RESTORATIVE.

You will find, however, on the heads of those who use it

Luxuriant Glossy Hair
Of Original Color,
And a Clean Scalp,
NO MATTER AT WHAT AGE OF LIFE IT IS USED.

THE FOLLOWING TESTIMONY IS CONVINCING:
MACON, GA., March 28, 1860.
Messrs. STEWART & BUTLER,
Savannah, Ga.

Gents—I received the package of Heimstreet's Inimitable Hair Restorative, and after using one bottle, can safely say it is the best article of the kind I know of—it will do all it claims to do in restoring the Hair to its original color.
Respectfully,
JONAS F. BEESLEY.

OFFICE HOME MUTUAL FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE CO.,
St. Louis, October 29, 1859.

We have used Heimstreet's Hair Preparation. (Inimitable Restorative) and find it to answer the purposes for which it is designed, better than anything we have ever used before, and can recommend it in the highest terms.
B. B. HENRY,
C. L. CHESTER,
G. V. CROSS.

SAVANNAH, GA., May, 1860.
Messrs. W. E. HAGAN & Co., Troy, N. Y.:

Gents—Our firm having sold large quantities of your INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE, and hearing it so universally commended by many of our patrons in the highest manner as to its "INIMITABLE" qualities, I was induced to give it a trial, having for some years been troubled with falling of the hair, dryness of the scalp, as well as the additional annoyance of many grey hairs—the scalp being apparently diseased. After faithfully using one small bottle of the Restorative, and continuing its good qualities apparent, I commenced the use of the second, and my hair is now in better condition than ever before during my recollection. It has stopped falling out, and the scalp has resumed its functions. I most cheerfully recommend your article as having all the virtues you claim for it. In addition to my own case, I can point to at least fifty persons in our city who have had the same experience as its use as myself. You are at liberty to use this letter as you may see proper, and I will be happy to recommend your article personally on any and all occasions.
Yours respectfully,
JAMES STEWART.
Of the firm of Stewart & Butler.

Rejoice! ye with gray hairs and bald heads, for the Inimitable will restore the former to its original beauty, and cover the latter with a luxuriant growth.
—Troy Budget.

If you wish to have the real color, instead of the dull, rough look which hair dye imparts, use Heimstreet's Restorative, which invigorates the roots of the hair and makes it come again, no matter how much it may be faded.—Boston Traveller.

CHILDREN
TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW,
An experienced Nurse and Female Physician, presents to the attention of mothers her
SOOTHING SIRUP,
FOR CHILDREN TEETHING,

Which greatly facilitates the process of Teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation, will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is sure to regulate the bowels. Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for over ten years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of the highest commendation of its magical effects and medicinal virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after ten years' experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILLMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen minutes after the Sirup is administered.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the most experienced and skillful nurses in New England, and has been used with never failing success in

THOUSANDS OF CASES.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve and overcome convulsions, which, if not speedily remedied, end in death. We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY in the world, in ALL cases of DYSENTERY & DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething or any other cause.

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING.

We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—DO NOT LET YOUR PREJUDICES, NOR THE PREJUDICES OF OTHERS, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE, yes ABSOLUTELY SURE, to follow the use of this medicine if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by Druggists throughout the world.

Miscellaneous.

THE AMALGAMATION OF LANGUAGES.—There is a growing tendency in this age to appropriate the most expressive words of other languages, and after a while to incorporate them into our own; thus the word Cephalic, which is from the Greek, signifying "for the head," is now becoming popularized in connection with Mr. Spalding's great Headache remedy, but it will soon be used in a more general way, and the word Cephalic will become as common as Electrotype and many others whose distinction as foreign words has been worn away by common usage until they seem "native and to the manor born."

'Ardly Realized.

Hi 'ad 'n 'orrible 'eadache this 'afternoon, hand I stepped into the hapothecaries hand says hi to the man, "Can you hease me of an 'eadache?" "Does it hache 'ard," says 'e. "Hexceedingly," says hi, hand upon that 'e gave me a Cephalic Pill, hand 'pon me 'onor it cured me so quick that I 'ardly realized I 'ad 'ad an 'eadache.

HEADACHE is the favorite sign by which nature makes known any deviation whatever from the natural state of the brain, and viewed in this light it may be looked on as a safeguard intended to give notice of disease which might otherwise escape attention, till too late to be remedied; and its indications should never be neglected. Headaches may be classified under two names, viz. Symptomatic and Idiopathic. Symptomatic Headache is exceedingly common and is the precursor of a great variety of diseases, among which are Apoplexy, Gout, Rheumatism, and all febrile diseases. In its nervous form it is sympathetic of disease of the stomach constituting sick headache, of hepatic disease constituting bilious headache, of worms, constipation and other disorders of the bowels, as well as renal and uterine affections. Diseases of the heart are very frequently attended with Headaches: Anemia and plethora are also affections which frequently occasion Headache. Idiopathic Headache is also very common, being usually distinguished by the name of nervous headache, sometimes coming on suddenly in a state of apparently sound health and prostrating at once the mental and physical energies, and in other instances it comes on slowly, heralded by depression of spirits or acerbity of temper. In most instances the pain is in the front of the head, over one or both eyes, and sometimes provoking vomiting; under this class may also be named Neuralgia.

For the treatment of either class of Headache the Cephalic Pills have been found a sure and safe remedy, relieving the most acute pains in a few minutes, and by its subtle power eradicating the diseases of which Headache is the unerring index.

BRIDGET.—Missus wants you to send her a box of Cephalic Glue, no, a bottle of Prepared Pills,—but I'm thinking that's not just it naither; but perhaps ye'll be afther knowing what it is. Ye see she's nigh dead and gone with the Sick Headache, and wants some more of that same as relieved her before.

Druggist.—You must mean Spalding's Cephalic Pills.

Bridget.—Och! sure now and you've sed it, here's the quarther and give me the Pills and don't be all day about it either.

Constipation or Costiveness.

No one of the "many ills flesh is heir to" is so prevalent, so little understood, and so much neglected as Costiveness. Often originating in carelessness, or sedentary habits; it is regarded as a slight disorder of too little consequence to excite anxiety, while in reality it is the precursor and companion of many of the most fatal and dangerous diseases, and unless early eradicated it will bring the sufferer to an untimely grave. Among the lighter evils of which costiveness is the usual attendant are Headache, Colic, Rheumatism, Foul Breath, Piles, and others of like nature, while a long train of frightful diseases such as Malignant Fevers, Abscess, Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Dyspepsia, Apoplexy, Epilepsy, Paralysis, Hysteria, Hypochondriasis, Melancholy, and Insanity, first indicate their presence in the system by this alarming symptom. Not unfrequently the diseases named originate in Constipation, but take on an independent existence unless the cause is eradicated in an early stage. From all these considerations it follows that the disorder should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs, and no person should neglect to get a box of Cephalic Pills on the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expel the insidious approaches of disease and destroy the dangerous foe to human life.

A Real Blessing.

Physician.—Well, Mrs. Jones, how is that headache?

Mrs. Jones.—Gone! Doctor, all gone! the pill you sent cured me in just twenty minutes, and I wish you would send me more so that I can have them handy.

Physician.—You can get them at any Druggist's. Call for Cephalic Pills, I find they never fail, and I recommend them in all cases of Headache.

Mrs. Jones.—I shall send for a box directly, and shall tell all my suffering friends, for they are a real blessing.

TWENTY MILLIONS OF DOLLARS SAVED.—Mr. Spalding has sold two millions of bottles of his celebrated Prepared Glue and it is estimated that each bottle saves at least ten dollars worth of broken furniture thus making an aggregate of twenty millions of dollars reclaimed from total loss by this valuable invention. Having made his Glue a household word he now proposes to do the world still greater service by curing all the aching heads with his Cephalic Pills, and if they are as good as his Glue, Headaches will soon vanish away like snow in July.

OVER EXCITEMENT, and the mental care and anxiety incident to close attention to business or study, are among the numerous causes of Nervous Headache. The disordered state of the mind and body incident to this distressing complaint is a fatal blow to all energy and ambition. Sufferers by this disorder can always obtain speedy relief from these distressing attacks by using one of the Cephalic Pills whenever the symptoms appear. It quiets the overtasked brain, and soothes the strained and jarring nerves, and relaxes the tension of the stomach, which always accompanies and aggravates the disordered condition of the brain.

FACT WORTH KNOWING.—Spalding's Cephalic Pills are a certain cure for Sick Headache, Billious Headache, Nervous Headache, Costiveness and General Debility.

GREAT DISCOVERY.—Among the most important of all the great medical discoveries of this age may be considered the system of vaccination for protection from Small Pox—the Cephalic Pill, for relief of Headache, and the use of Quinine for the prevention of Fevers, either of which is a sure specific, whose benefits will be experienced by suffering humanity long after their discoverers are forgotten.

DID you ever have a Sick Headache? Do you remember the throbbing temples, the fevered brow, the loathing and disgust at the sight of food. How totally unfit you were for pleasure, conversation, or study. One of the Cephalic Pills would have relieved you from all the suffering which you then experienced. For this and other purposes, you should always have a box on hand, to use as occasion requires.

By the use of these Pills the periodic attacks of Nervous or Sick Headache may be prevented; and if taken at the commencement of an attack immediate relief from pain and sickness will be obtained.

They seldom fail in removing the Nausea and Headache to which females are so subject.

They act gently upon the bowels,—removing Costiveness.

For Literary Men, Students, Delicate Females, and all persons of sedentary habits, they are valuable as a Laxative, improving the appetite, giving tone and vigor to the digestive organs, and restoring the natural elasticity and strength of the whole system.

The CEPHALIC PILLS are the result of long investigation and carefully conducted experiments, having been in use many years, during which time they have prevented and relieved a vast amount of pain and suffering from Headache, whether originating in the nervous system or from a deranged state of the stomach.

They are entirely vegetable in their composition, and may be taken at all times with perfect safety without making any change of diet, and the absence of any disagreeable taste renders it easy to administer them to children.

THE RIVER was rising slowly last evening, with six feet nine inches water in the canal, by the mark. In the morning it was at a stand, with six feet eight inches in the canal. The weather has continued moderate, but was rather stormy yesterday, with light rains during the day, which occasionally turned to snow.

At Pittsburg, yesterday morning, as we learn by special dispatch, the river was falling, with eleven feet water in the channel; at noon there were ten and a half feet water in the channel.

The officers of the mailboat yesterday reported the river swelling at the time of their departure, though it had been falling in the morning. All the tributaries above are reported rising, the Big Kanawha having swollen four feet at the mouth on Wednesday.

The Cumberland river is also rising pretty fast, with nine feet water on the Shoals, Wednesday evening, with the departure of the John Gault, Melrose, and J. T. Coombs.

The May Duke, which arrived at Nashville Wednesday evening, reports the Clipper with steam up, and pumping out the water from her hold, preparatory to her departure for the Paducah dock.—Should she succeed in keeping the water down, it is thought before the present rise reaches her, there is a chance she may be saved.

The Mississippi, at St. Louis, is steadily declining, with only five and a half feet water to Cairo, as we learn by our correspondence, and the Adriatic aground at Sharp Island. The old Alex. Scott, the freighter, was hard aground at Dog Tooth, but managed to work off.

In the upper river there was much floating ice, and the Missouri and Illinois can be considered as closed for the season, unless a very great change should take place in the weather. All the boats running between St. Joseph and Omaha have been withdrawn. The Chippewa is reported laid up. We copy the following from the St. Joseph Journal of the 26th:

The river yesterday and day before was full of floating ice, and the ferry made a few trips with the greatest difficulty. The river this morning will, if the present cold weather continues, be frozen over, and navigation closed for the winter. The Bellemont ferryboat has taken winter quarters at the foot of Francis street.

☞ The steamer Canada was still aground on the Lower Rapids when the Des Moines left Keokuk.

☞ The Hawkeye State has had the misfortune to ground at Grimes's, about ten miles below Clarksville.

☞ The permanent establishment of the Captains' Association is proving to be of much advantage to the merchants of this city, by the uniform rates of freight adopted at all the ports. In some minor articles of manufacture they ought to discriminate a little in favor of home trade, but that can be regulated hereafter. The following are the current rates to the South from St. Louis, where last year freights were carried at 8 and 10 cents per hundred, to the ruin of the boatmen and injury of all other trades. These rates are about the same as ours:

To New Orleans.—Pork 85c per bbl.; whisky and oil, $1 25; beer, $1; flour, 60c; hay, 30c per 100 pounds; rope, oats and bran, 35c per 100 pounds; lead, tobacco, corn, bacon and lard, 35c per 100 pounds; horses, $8; mules, $6; cattle, $6.

To Memphis.—Assorted merchandise, 30c per 100 pounds; bacon, 25c per 100 pounds; hay, 35c per 100 pounds; wet barrels, 75c; flour, 40c per bbl.; pork, 60c per bbl; corn, 25c per sack.

☞ Thanks to the officers of the Woodford, from N. Orleans, for a manifest, forwarded from Cairo. She has considerable of the Southern sweets for sale.

The Woodford is due from New Orleans this morning, and is advertised to return South on Monday.

☞ To Matt. Jouett, of the Baltic, from New Orleans, we are indebted for a manifest.

The Baltic returns to New Orleans this evening at 5 o'clock, from Portland, providing the choicest fare for passengers, and in charge of competent officers, the veteran Meekin in command, and the Messrs. Jouett in the clerk's office to take care of passengers.

☞ Our New Orleans exchanges of Tuesday have the following in regard to Red and Ouachita rivers:

By the arrival yesterday of the Arkadelphia City, from the head waters of the Ouachita river, we have been placed in possession of information concerning that stream. She left Arkadelphia on the 17th on a rise, and reached Camden on the 18th, where she found ten feet water, although the river had fallen eight inches. At Ouachita City she met heavy rain storms and the river rising. There were four feet on Monroe bar and six feet on Catahoula shoals. Along the upper Ouachita the people are sadly in want of provisions, and the opening of navigation will prove a great blessing to them.

The Moro arrived yesterday from Red river, having gone no higher than Alexandria on account of the river having again fallen. She reshipped her freight on the Comet for Grand Ecore and the Era No 6 for Shreveport. The boats above the falls report no improvement in the river, and among them the Vigo, W. M. Lavy, and others, have laid up on account of not finding sufficient water. The steamer Texas had pulled over where there was thirty inches water. Between Alexandria and the mouth, the river was at a stand, with five feet at Snaggy Point, where several boats had grounded of late from being overloaded.

☞ We learn that there are only three feet water in the Wabash, at Vincennes, and but few boats in the river. A rise is expected soon. There is said to be a great deal of grain and produce to carry out of the river the present season.

It is stated that the Jacob Musselman will enter the trade between Evansville and Mount Carmel, on the Wabash, as a regular packet.

The machinery of the defunct Kate Sarchett will be placed on the new boat now building at New Albany, for the Wabash river trade.

☞ The A. O. Tylor, from New Orleans, discharged a lot of soda ash and drugs yesterday, at the head of the canal.

☞ The Glendale, from Cincinnati, and the Cheesman, from St. Louis, were over due last evening.

CORN LOST.—The Lacrosse, bound for St. Louis, from the upper rivers, ran aground a few miles above Leclare, and threw 2,000 bags of corn overboard to lighten.

☞ The ancient Cambridge is making a few lee trips in the St. Louis and Keokuk trade.

COAL BOAT DISASTERS.—Yesterday morning the Queen of the West, for New Orleans, after getting safe out of the canal, ran over a flatboat of coal just above Third street, tearing the side off, sinking the boat. It belonged to Kellogg & Co., and contained some 12,000 bushels of coal for Owensboro.

From a passenger on the Baltic that arrived yesterday, we learn that disasters have happened to quite a number of the coal boats that started South on the late rise.—Mr. Davis lost ten boats belonging to Hall & Co.; one of a pair in charge of Larry Maples sunk in Madrid Bend, and one of pilot Drinkwater's ran over a snag at No. 76 and sunk.

A good many boats had run aground and may be lost. Among those aground were a pair at Commerce; one boat at the foot of Cow Island is lost; one pair on the middle bar at Providence Island, one boat at Meriwether's; one pair aground below Memphis; and one boat aground at Paddy's Hen.

☞ The J. A. Cotton, the famous low pressure boat for the coast trade, now in course of construction under the supervision of Capt. Hooper, will be ready to launch in a few days. In point of model, cost, beauty, power and speed, she is expected to excel any boat that ever floated on the Southern waters. The low pressure engines were constructed and are to be put up under the supervision of T. S. Scowden, Esq., the engineer of the Water Works, and the best practical, scientific man in the West.

The cylinders of the Cotton are forty four inches in diameter, with nine feet stroke, to work a water-wheel some thirty five feet in diameter, with about sixteen ft. length of buckets. That application of power, together with her beautiful model, will make her the clipper of the Southern waters.

☞ The little Trio, having been detained completing her load, starts to the Ouachita this morning. She goes out full all over.

The Bracelet has laid over to get a little more freight, and Capt Duncan requests us to state that he goes through to White river direct. [illegible] The clerk, Mr. [illegible], will do the agreeable to passengers.

The Time, Capt. Johnson, takes her departure for Florence in fall Tennessee river [illegible]

The Dove [illegible]

The Emma, Capt. Maratta, is also advertised for Nashville.

The renovated Telegraph No. 3, the boat [illegible] Louisville engineer, takes her departure for the East at noon to-day, [illegible] and superior accommodations [illegible].

☞ The Lancaster No. 3 is the packet for Westport, Madison, Carrollton, and all way places to-day, at noon, in charge of Capt. Strader.

☞ The Diligent, Capt Coble, is the regular daylight packet to Leavenworth and all way places, to-day. She starts at 2 o'clock from Portland.

☞ The little Grey Eagle is the regular packet for Evansville and Henderson this afternoon. She starts at 4 o'clock from Portland.

☞ The Dove, Capt. Saunders, is the packet for Oregon, Mundy's, and all points along Kentucky river this evening.

☞ The Diligent, from Leavenworth, on her last trip, had four hundred and fifty hogs for A. S. White & Co.

☞ The S. J. Adams, from New Orleans, as we learn by dispatch from Vicksburg, from Mr. Moody, the clerk, passed that point Thursday. She left New Orleans Tuesday evening, and will be due next Tuesday, and leaves this port on Thursday, the 6th of December.

The Atlantic, Capt. McGill, leaves New Orleans this evening, the 1st of December.

☞ The Fanny Bullitt started to New Orleans last evening, full of stock.

☞ The T. W. Roberts, the new Red river boat, arrived at New Orleans Monday.

☞ The Lebanon, Altamont, and Shenango were to have left St. Louis on Thursday. The Diadem arrived at that port on Wednesday.

THE KATE FRENCH DESTROYED BY FIRE.—By dispatches received yesterday, we learn that the Kate French, Capt. Caffrey, which left this port Saturday, the 17th of November, with a valuable cargo for Arkansas river, was destroyed by fire at Helena, on Thursday last. The boat had laid up at Helena to await a rise in the Arkansas. She was owned by Paul & Murdock, of Cincinnati, and was an old, sternwheel boat, of no great value.

The cargo on board, shipped from here, was insured in our local offices for over $10,000, including the shipments of Pitkin, Wiard & Co., of agricultural implements for $5,000 in Tyler's agencies, and a risk on Semple & Son's goods. The Franklin had $1,350 on Trabue's and another shipment, and the Guthrie, Union, and others for small risks. Mr. Avery shipped 300 plows on her, in addition to which, she had flour, cement, lime, castings, and machinery.

JOHN F. GUNKEL & CO.'S

Detersive and Erasive

SOAP!

LOUISVILLE KENTUCKY

WE OFFER this SOAP to the public with the full assurance that, if the directions given are carried out, it will save TIME, LABOR and MONEY. All we ask is a fair trial; then let it stand upon its own merits. Among other advantages of this over other Washing Soaps, the following may be mentioned:

1. This Soap is warranted not to injure the fabric.
2. But one-half the TIME and LABOR will be required to do a washing by using this Soap in preference to any other.
3. The clothes need but little rubbing, and in most cases no boiling.
4. For washing hands it is greatly superior to any common Soap, as it does not chap, but has a tendency to soften the skin.
5. It cannot be surpassed for removing Ink, Tar and Grease Spots, also for cleaning Paint.
6. The superiority of this Soap consists in its not containing any excess of alkalies, and the materials used rendering it more mild than any other known Washing Soap.
7. It is undoubtedly the best Family Soap extant, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction, or the money will be refunded.

All orders sent to the undersigned through the Postoffice, or given our wagons, will meet with prompt attention.

OFFICE LOUISVILLE COURIER, }
FRIDAY EVENING, Nov. 31, 1860. }

The present month closes on the most stringent money market that we have had to report since the financial panic of 1857, which swept over the country. The demand for money is rather on the increase, and as the banks are not disposed to discount, the stringency of the market is more perceptible. During the first ten days of the coming month a large amount of paper will fall due, and if the parties are able to take it up, there is a prospect that matters will then ease down some. The call on the banks to-day was larger than for several days past, and a large amount of paper was refused, as the banks were taking nothing but extra gilt-edge paper, and that only for those having favor on them, when the paper had but a short time to run. There is a good demand from outsiders, and we hear of several complaints from them. The market for uncurrent money remains unchanged, with but a small amount of business doing, as parties who have it are not willing to submit to the large rates of discount asked by brokers. We noticed to-day that a large number of the merchants have advertised to take all currency in exchange for goods at par. The brokers' rates are as follows: For Illinois and Wisconsin 10@20 ℘ cent. discount; Missouri 3@7 ℘ cent. discount, Indiana and Ohio 1@3 ℘ cent. discount; North and South Carolina and Georgia currency are unsaleable.

There is no change in the market for exchange. The demand for Eastern continues large, and some houses report a demand in excess of the supply. The rates are the same as yesterday's, bankers asking 1 ℘ cent. premium, but doing nothing, while the brokers are getting 2@2½ premium. There is nothing doing in New Orleans Sight.

The general market remains quiet, with but a small amount of business doing in any line of trade. Flour is dull, and prices if any change is noticeable are lower, with but a moderate demand for home consumption at $4 for fine and $5@$5 75 for superfine to fancy family grades. There is nothing doing in wheat, and we are left without quotations. There is a good demand for old corn, with but little doing in the market. We quote it firm, with sales at 60c for mixed, and 64c for prime white shelled, sacks included, delivered at Nashville Railroad depot. These quotations are for lots to fill orders, and are consequently a good deal above the price paid by dealers. There is a good demand for new, but the receipts are light, with sales at 55c for mixed, sacks included, delivered at the railroad depot. The demand for new ear is moderate, with sales from store at 45c. Oats continue dull, with but a small demand. We note sales from store at 30@33c, without sacks, and 35c, sacks included. There is no change in Rye or Barley.

Whisky has declined, with sales at 14½@14¾c.

Groceries are dull, with a small demand for sugar, and prices are a shade lower. The sales to-day were small at 7@7¼c for prime new plantation. Molasses is dull, and prices are easier, though no further decline was established, the transactions to-day being made at 32c for prime new plantation. There is a good demand for Coffee, with sales at 15@15¾c.

The Provision market is dull, with but a small inquiry for Mess Pork, and the sales are limited on orders for $16. The market is very weak, and prices are on the decline, and to-day lots could easily have been purchased at $15, but there were no buyers in the market even at that price. For future delivery there is nothing doing. There is still a moderate demand for old Bacon, to fill orders, with small sales at 9c for Shoulders, 12c for Rib, and 13c for clear Rib Sides. There are no old clear Sides in the market, but there are still sufficient quantities of new, which can be purchased at 13½c. There is nothing doing in Lard. The market for Green Meats is perfectly stagnant, with no disposition on the part of buyers to operate at any price.

The market for Hogs is very dull and heavy, with some sellers, but no buyers in the market. The very best terms on which Hogs could be sold here is 4c gross, on time, but holders are not willing to part with them at this price, and the consequence is that there are no sales. The uncertainty of the course which the market will take has deterred packers from making purchases. The stringency of the money market is also felt, and packers are not more than able to stand up to the contracts which they have already made. The packing season is progressing, and the number slaughtered up to this evening is a little upwards of 78,000, with 8,000 left in pens, making the total receipts thus far for this season over 86,000 head. The number killed to this date last season was 63,000 head.

Financial Matters Abroad.

The Nashville Union and American has the following:

The notes of the City Bank were thrown out this morning by the Bank of Tennessee and the Planters' and Union Banks. The reason for this step, we understand, is, that the City Bank was unable this morning to redeem its notes presented by those Banks. This intelligence caused some little excitement on the streets, and we heard that some of the more timid of the note holders of the City Bank were disposing of them at a discount of 25@30 per cent. We, however, saw no men who was green enough to take such a price for his City Bank money.

On inquiry at the Comptroller's office, we learn that the City Bank has on deposit with that officer $85,000 Nashville and Chattanooga Railroad Bonds, indorsed by the State, and $5,000 Regular State Bonds, making $90,000, to secure a circulation of $72,000, and the Comptroller considers this ample, even at the present prices of Bonds, to take up the circulation, dollar for dollar, should it be found necessary to put the City Bank in process of liquidation. But the impression prevailed on 'Change that the owners of the City Bank, Messrs. D & E G. Pearl, would probably effect an arrangement in the course of a few days by which they would be enabled to resume business. We heard the suggestion from quite a number that the old Banks here ought to take up the City Bank, if necessary, and carry it through the present pressure in monetary affairs. The reason for this suggestion is, we understand, that the City Bank has been exerting itself to relieve the people, and now in its difficulties, it is entitled to the sympathy of those who are able to secure it.

We learn from a private source that the Indorsed Bonds of the Nashville and Chattanooga Railroad sold in New York a few days since at 79½c. Our latest quotations for State Bonds, based on actual rates, were 80c. From these figures the holders of the notes of the City Bank may make an estimate of what the Bank's securities will realize, with the probability that Bonds will appreciate rather than decrease in price.

A number of the Free Banks have, in accordance with the act of March 20, 1858, gone into voluntary liquidation. These Banks, with the date of notice provided in the act, are as follows:

Bank of Commerce, Nashville	April 1, 1858
Bank of Nashville	April 1, 1858
Farmers' Bank, Knoxville	April 26, 1858
River Bank, Memphis	May 29, 1858
Bank of Paris	June 21, 1858
Southern Bank, Memphis	Sept. 6, 1858
Bank of Dandridge	Oct. 26, 1859
Traders' Bank, Nashville

The Bank of Knoxville and the City Bank of Nashville were, by an act of the last Legislature, united under the name of the latter, which was vested with the rights and charged with the liabilities of both Banks. We understand the present outstanding circulation of the Bank of Knoxville amounts to only about $3,000, which is included in the present circulation ($72,000) of the City Bank.

We understand the old Banks, which suspended yesterday, have already commenced the work of extending relief to the business community, in the way of extending loans and furnishing Exchange on New York. We have been unable for a day or two to furnish reliable quotations for New York Exchange, owing to the unsettled condition of financial affairs. We learn that the rate charged by the Banks to-day was ¾ per cent. premium.

The New York Times, of Wednesday, says:

The condition of money affairs to-day is comparatively steady. The movements in discounts and foreign Exchange are apparently approaching their customary channels once more. The mail for the Boston steamer to-morrow was made up with more appearance of a regular trade supply and demand for Foreign Bills than at any time since the 10th of the month; and the offerings at Bank moderated nearly one-half at the heavy establishments as compared with Friday last, while the disposition to discount continued extremely liberal where the paper submitted was within reasonable date and the applicant had any substantial claim to accommodation. The bank programme of last week is thus being carried out in good faith, and our merchants begin to feel assured that while their trade has fallen off and a considerable degree of uncertainty rests upon the business of the future, these drawbacks are not likely to be aggravated by an undue money pressure or renewed panic at home. The political agitation continues, of course, and the immediate as well as threatened combinations at the South are such as to counsel the utmost prudence in entering upon new engagements, and tendency to the entainment of mercantile paper this winter is so decided that lower, rather than dearer rates for money in all regular business, are likely to ensue. At present the terms outside of bank are from 10 to 12 per cent on first class bills, the volume of business being reduced by the combined cause of ease and liberality at bank where the most of the wants of the merchants are accommodated and the temporary withdrawal of many of the old buyers of paper.

Hog Items.

The Cincinnati Gazette says of Hogs and Provisions:

Hogs were dull and lower. At close they were offered at $5 75, and a lot of 800 head was bought, in the afternoon, at this figure to fill a contract. A small lot of 1st lbs average sold at $5 50. Packers are still holding off, seeing no inducement to invest at current figures. They appear to be indisposed to operate freely at over $5. The receipts to-day were 7,000 head. Feeders should understand that the foundations of the trade at present are covered by a considerable per centage of sand which a moderate pressure to sell would sweep away. Mess Pork is held at $15 to $15 50, with a very moderate demand. Prices have declined to $17 in New York. Lard is held at 7¾ for barrel, with buyers at 9¾. For keg, 10¼ is asked. Green meats dull at 4½, 6¼, and 7½ for Shoulders, Sides, and Hams. Bulk Shoulders and Sides may be quoted at 5½ and 7¾. The general feeling in the market for Hogs and Provisions is more dull and gloomy than at any previous time this season, but at the same time it is not to be forgotten that current prices, or even figures that would meet the views of buyers are not low, except as they are compared with famine prices. With a large crop of corn, worth in the field from 15 to 20c, an average of $5 ℘ 100 net for Hogs cannot be considered ruinous to anybody, except to those who were so unfortunate as to anticipate considered inflation in the staple articles of food.

The Detroit Free Press says of hogs:

Dressed hogs are lower, the highest paid for ordinary packing lots, averaging say 200@250 [illegible] $[illegible]. Lots of 280@300 lbs might bring $6, but the tendency is rather downward in consequence of the decline in the markets, particularly the marked decline mess pork in New York.

The Gallatin (Tenn.) Advertiser says:

The weather for the few days past has been sufficiently cold for slaughtering, and many of our farmers have been quite busily employed. Owing to the scarcity of corn in this county, but few hogs were fattened for killing, and the meat now being put up will not more than serve for home consumption—if, indeed, we do not have to draw upon other markets for a little.

The Uniontown (Ky.) News says:

Mr. Funk had 400 hogs killed at his pork house on Sunday, and on Tuesday he killed 300. He tells us that the quality of the hogs this season is 20 ℘ cent better than last. He is paying $6 net for prime hogs.

The St. Louis Republican has the following:

There was a better feeling to-day, the course adopted by the banks having a tendency to ease the market. Packers were rather quicker to buy than they have been for some days past. Sales consisted of 250 head, dividing on 200 lbs, at 5¼@5¾c, and to-day 350 head at 5½@5¾c and 130 head on private terms. Yesterday 120 head sold at 5¼@5¾c, dividing on 200 lbs.

Public Meeting at Warsaw, Mo.

WARSAW, MO., Nov. 30.—A mass meeting of the people of Benton county was held yesterday, at the court house. Mr. Means, chairman; Tom Murray, secretary. A committee was formed for enrolling a volunteer company. They reported eighty-five members, and the number increasing.—The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That we, in common with the people of the border counties, hail with feelings of the greatest satisfaction the prompt and energetic action of Gov. Stewart in sending troops to defend the homes and firesides of the border squatters, at a time when we were wholly unable to do so ourselves, for want of arms and ammunition.

Resolved, That we regard it the duty of every law-abiding citizen who feels a proper respect for the supremacy of the laws and regard for individual right, not only to hold himself in readiness to turn out at a moment's warning, but to give all aid and assistance in his power to the troops now in the field for our protection.

Resolved, That when a country is threatened, as this is, by a band of blood-thirsty villains, who boldly proclaim their intention not only forcibly and illegally to take our property, but who hang, in broad daylight, in view of their families, for no offense under Heaven, our very best citizens, and with newly furnished arms from Northern factories, shipped clandestinely to Kansas, roam over the country, breaking up the peaceful relations of whole settlements, turning out Government officers, chasing away citizens, &c., that we feel proud of the course of our Governor, and proud to claim the citizen soldiery of St. Louis, Boonville, and Jefferson, and other military organizations of our State, as the bulwark of our safety in time of need.

Resolved, That we are glad Buchanan has at last seemed to arrive at a proper sense of his duty, by sending Gen. Harney to Southern Kansas with instructions to take Montgomery, dead or alive.

Mr. Murray left here to day for the headquarters of the army, and on his return we will have late news.

From New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30—It is understood that Gen. Briggs, member of Congress from this city, has prepared a detailed plan for a new compromise, substantially like the Albany Journal's plan, with the restoration of the Missouri Compromise line west of the Rocky Mountains as the main feature.

A dispatch to the Herald from Washington says that the Navy Department has received dispatches from Flag Officer Pendergrast, with dates from Vera Cruz to Nov. 21st. Mr. McLane was at Jalapa. The robbery of the British Legation, which was at the time in charge of the Spanish Minister, is confirmed. The health of the officers and crew of the squadron is good. The St. Louis had arrived at Vera Cruz. The Pawnee is on her way home, and will go into Philadelphia.

The City of Baltimore sails to-morrow, in place of the Glasgow, and takes the mails.

The Commercial's Washington correspondent says, advices from St. Petersburg give reason to believe that Minister Appleton has obtained the payment of the celebrated Perkins claim against the Russian government, amounting to $385,000, for non-compliance with the contract for smuggling arms and ammunition during the Crimean war.

A Paris letter of Nov. 8th says, that in Syria such deplorable events are threatening, that Abd-el-Kader has advised the Christians to quit the country.

A Washington telegram to the Commercial says that the President insists that the Federal laws must be observed, and he will maintain them at all hazards, expressing the earnest hope that the South will not provoke collision. He will also declare his duty to the country, and forbids the idea of his permitting the secessionists to take possession of the Federal forts or to withhold the Federal revenues. The President has received information that the ordinance for South Carolina secession is prepared, and will be adopted Dec. 18th, 1861. Though the President expresses the desire that no collision may occur, he entertains very great apprehension that it will come.

Large Meeting in New Albany, Ind.

NEW ALBANY, IND., Nov. 30.—One of the largest meetings ever convened in this city was held last night to consider the present condition of public affairs. Resolutions to the following effect was adopted: That the citizens of Indiana have no cause of quarrel with the South, and desire to live on terms of good fellowship with them—that all the provisions of the Constitution must be enforced—that the South has just cause of complaint on account of the passage of Personal Liberty laws, and calling upon the States which have them to repeal them—deprecating hasty action on the part of the South, believing that a satisfactory adjustment of all differences can be made, and declaring in the event of civil war that the proper destiny of Indiana is with neither the extreme North or extreme South, and that it is the duty of her citizens to so act as to prevent her soil from becoming the theater of bloody strife except in defense of her own rights and honor.

Pike's Peak Express.

FORT KEARNEY, Nov. 30.—The coach from Denver City, Nov. 26th, passed here at 3 P. M. yesterday. It carried eight passengers and $12,350 in dust. The weather was clear and the nights cold—snow melting in the day time.

The Legislative Assembly of the Provisional Government, had adjourned from Denver to Golden City. The remainder of the session will be held at that place.

Fifty-two freight wagons, belonging to Alexander Majors, arrived on the evening of the 24th. Large numbers are still leaving for San Juan mines, and 3,000 are reported returning from there disappointed.

C. S. Hinckley, of Hinckley's Express, has been appointed agent for the Missouri and Western Telegraph Company, at Denver City. By this arrangement messages can be forwarded to all points in the gold regions by express coaches, leaving Fort Kearney four times per week.

It is reported here (Fort Kearney) that the Kearney City Blues yesterday killed two Indians and wounded some others, who resisted their claim to some stolen horses.

Overland Mail.

FORT KEARNEY, Nov. 30.—The California Overland and P. P. Express coach, from Denver on the 27th, has arrived here to-day, with six passengers and $4,000 in dust.

Capt. Anderson with his company of dragoons returned at noon to-day, without being able to hold any speech with the Indians.

To quiet the apprehensions of settlers, express riders and mail agents along the Platte at the hostile attitude that the Indians have assumed, the commanding officer here has ordered Captain Steele, with his company of Second Infantry to leave to-morrow morning with all dispatch for Cottonwood Springs, where, it is reported, whole bands of Arrapahoes, Cheyennes, and Sioux are encamped to the number of from 10,000 to 15,000. Emboldened by numbers, they annoy travelers and commit small and great robberies. It is greatly feared that a general Indian war will break out.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The Times correspondence says that Hon. John Sherman, Chairman of Committee of Ways and Means, intends to put through the appropriation bills at the earliest moment of the session, in order to allow Congress during the short session to discuss and settle the sectional difficulties which present themselves. He is expected on Saturday.

Hon. Green Adams, of Kentucky, says his State may be counted as true to the Federal Union at all times, until the rights of the States are actually invaded.

The Cabinet held a meeting yesterday.—It is rumored that the Southern members were averse to Mr. Buchanan discussing the question of Secession in the message—they deeming it advisable to wait until a formal declaration had been made by the seceding States, when the subject would be treated in a formal message.

From Charleston.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 29.—The S. S. Cahawba takes the place of the Isabel, and leaves on Friday for Havana.

The meeting of the bank directors this morning agreed to suspend immediately.

It is deemed probable here that Mr. Yancey will be appointed by the Alabama Legislature, as Commissioner to attend the South Carolina Convention.

It is now considered certain here that the ordinance of secession will be passed either on the 17th or 18th of December.

Our Representatives are leaving for Washington.

Ordnance and ammunition have lately been landed from a schooner at Fort Moultrie. Some of the army officers say that now Fort Moultrie is almost impregnable.

Off the Track.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 30.—The upward passenger train on the Jackson Railway, was thrown off the track eighty miles above here. No lives were lost. The down freight train ran into a broken bridge and killed the conductor and engineer. The engine afterward exploded. Several bridges were washed away by the recent rains. Efforts are making to forward passengers as usual. Three Abolitionists were arrested yesterday.

Georgia Legislature.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Nov. 29.—A bill has been introduced into the House prohibiting the levying of any execution from the courts of the United States on property of the citizens of Georgia, prior to Dec., 1861, the sales under such process to be void.—A debate took place in the House on a bill to protect the rights of the citizens of Georgia. An amendment was offered to extend the provisions of the bill to every State that voted for Lincoln, which was agreed to.

Mr. McDonald opposed the bill and the amendment, expressing warm Union sentiments, and moved an amendment, fining any Georgian $200 who sells a bale of cotton or barrel of apples to any person north of Mason & Dixon's line. Mr. McDonald's amendment caused a commotion, and disunion and conservative sentiments were uttered.

Grand Demonstration.

AUGUSTA, Nov. 29.—A grand demonstration is announced to come off here on Friday evening. A flag is to be suspended across the Savannah river, bearing the coats of arms of South Carolina and Georgia. A large attendance is expected.
